

WPI

Informed Consent Agreement for Participation in Ethnographic Film Study of Indonesian Culture and Climate

Investigators: Tahvorn George, Molly O'Connor, Jarod Romankiw, Michelle Zhang

Email Contact: gr-ceres-d19@wpi.edu

Sponsor: CERES Community Environment Park

You are being asked to participate in a research study. Before you agree, however, you must be fully informed about the purpose of the study, the procedures to be followed, and any benefits, risks or discomfort that you may experience as a result of your participation. This form presents information about the study so that you may make a fully informed decision regarding your participation.

Purpose of the study

The purpose of this study is to enrich the learning experience of visitors at CERES environmental park by producing cultural “climate stories” of Indonesians living in Melbourne through a series of ethnographic interview-style videos.

Procedure to be followed

The participant will be required to complete approximately a 30-minute interview with the investigators to share their stories about their life in Indonesia. The interview will be recorded, and the footage may be used to create videos that document their experiences in relation to climate change. The participant will be contacted when videos are complete to ask for their approval of accuracy and appropriate depiction of both the culture and participant. Once the participant has reviewed and approved the videos, they will be integrated into the Indonesian cultural village experience at CERES and other platforms including: YouTube, Climate Stories Project, and WPI.

Risk to study participants

Some questions may evoke memories that may bring discomfort to the participant. The participant has the right to decline any question and request to move on to a new topic of discussion.

Benefits to research participants and others

This project will benefit CERES in its expansion of its Indonesian cultural village exhibit and in its ability to teach the community about the impact of climate change on life in Indonesia. It will also benefit those of the communities being interviewed, as it will provide a platform for them to share their stories.

Record keeping and confidentiality

The recordings from this study will only be available to the staff at CERES and to the group conducting this project unless given permission to do otherwise. Records of your participation in this study will be held confidential so far as permitted by law. However, the study investigators, the sponsor or its designee and, under certain circumstances, the Worcester Polytechnic Institute Institutional Review Board (WPI IRB) have the right to inspect and have access to confidential data that identify you by name.

Compensation and treatment in the event of injury

We do not believe that participation in this project will involve risk of injury or harm, but if something of that nature does occur, we will not be held liable for such injury or harm. You do not give up any of your legal rights by signing this statement.

Your participation in this research is voluntary

Your refusal to participate will not result in any penalty to you or any loss of benefits to which you may otherwise be entitled. You may decide to stop participating in the research at any time. The project investigators retain the right to cancel or postpone the experimental procedures at any time they see fit.

Initial each statement you agree with:

I give permission for my name and other personal information (including hometown, age, and occupation) collected during the study to be used in the videos.

I give permission for my face to be shown in the videos.

I give permission for this video to be published on public platforms including: CERES visitors app, CERES YouTube channel, Climate Stories Project, and Worcester Polytechnic Institute.

By signing below, I acknowledge that I have read and understand the explanation provided to me. I have had all of my questions answered to my satisfaction and consent to be a participant in the study described above. I am also entitled to a copy of this agreement.

Participant Signature

12/03/2019
Date

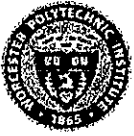

SYAHIRUDIN

Participant Name (please print)

Investigator Signature

12/03/2019
Date

WPI

Informed Consent Agreement for Participation in Ethnographic Film Study of Indonesian Culture and Climate

Investigators: Tahvorn George, Molly O'Connor, Jarod Romankiw, Michelle Zhang

Email Contact: gr-ceres-d19@wpi.edu

Sponsor: CERES Community Environment Park

You are being asked to participate in a research study. Before you agree, however, you must be fully informed about the purpose of the study, the procedures to be followed, and any benefits, risks or discomfort that you may experience as a result of your participation. This form presents information about the study so that you may make a fully informed decision regarding your participation.

Purpose of the study

The purpose of this study is to enrich the learning experience of visitors at CERES environmental park by producing cultural "climate stories" of Indonesians living in Melbourne through a series of ethnographic interview-style videos.

Procedure to be followed

The participant will be required to complete approximately a 30-minute interview with the investigators to share their stories about their life in Indonesia. The interview will be recorded, and the footage may be used to create videos that document their experiences in relation to climate change. The participant will be contacted when videos are complete to ask for their approval of accuracy and appropriate depiction of both the culture and participant. Once the participant has reviewed and approved the videos, they will be integrated into the Indonesian cultural village experience at CERES and other platforms including: YouTube, Climate Stories Project, and WPI.

Risk to study participants

Some questions may evoke memories that may bring discomfort to the participant. The participant has the right to decline any question and request to move on to a new topic of discussion.

Benefits to research participants and others

This project will benefit CERES in its expansion of its Indonesian cultural village exhibit and in its ability to teach the community about the impact of climate change on life in Indonesia. It will also benefit those of the communities being interviewed, as it will provide a platform for them to share their stories.

Record keeping and confidentiality

The recordings from this study will only be available to the staff at CERES and to the group conducting this project unless given permission to do otherwise. Records of your participation in this study will be held confidential so far as permitted by law. However, the study investigators, the sponsor or its designee and, under certain circumstances, the Worcester Polytechnic Institute Institutional Review Board (WPI IRB) have the right to inspect and have access to confidential data that identify you by name.

Compensation and treatment in the event of injury

We do not believe that participation in this project will involve risk of injury or harm, but if something of that nature does occur, we will not be held liable for such injury or harm. You do not give up any of your legal rights by signing this statement.

Your participation in this research is voluntary

Your refusal to participate will not result in any penalty to you or any loss of benefits to which you may otherwise be entitled. You may decide to stop participating in the research at any time. The project investigators retain the right to cancel or postpone the experimental procedures at any time they see fit.

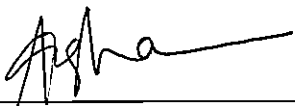

Initial each statement you agree with:

I give permission for my name and other personal information (including hometown, age, and occupation) collected during the study to be used in the videos.

I give permission for my face to be shown in the videos.

I give permission for this video to be published on public platforms including: CERES visitors app, CERES YouTube channel, Climate Stories Project, and Worcester Polytechnic Institute.

By signing below, I acknowledge that I have read and understand the explanation provided to me. I have had all of my questions answered to my satisfaction and consent to be a participant in the study described above. I am also entitled to a copy of this agreement.

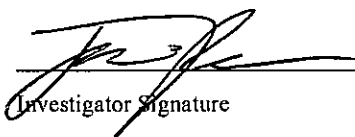

Participant Signature

12/3/2019

Date

Ashanti Permata Sari

Participant Name (please print)

Investigator Signature

12/3/2019

Date

WPI

Informed Consent Agreement for Participation in Ethnographic Film Study of Indonesian Culture and Climate

Investigators: Tahvorn George, Molly O'Connor, Jarod Romankiw, Michelle Zhang

Email Contact: gr-ceres-d19@wpi.edu

Sponsor: CERES Community Environment Park

You are being asked to participate in a research study. Before you agree, however, you must be fully informed about the purpose of the study, the procedures to be followed, and any benefits, risks or discomfort that you may experience as a result of your participation. This form presents information about the study so that you may make a fully informed decision regarding your participation.

Purpose of the study

The purpose of this study is to enrich the learning experience of visitors at CERES environmental park by producing cultural “climate stories” of Indonesians living in Melbourne through a series of ethnographic interview-style videos.

Procedure to be followed

The participant will be required to complete approximately a 30-minute interview with the investigators to share their stories about their life in Indonesia. The interview will be recorded, and the footage may be used to create videos that document their experiences in relation to climate change. The participant will be contacted when videos are complete to ask for their approval of accuracy and appropriate depiction of both the culture and participant. Once the participant has reviewed and approved the videos, they will be integrated into the Indonesian cultural village experience at CERES and other platforms including: YouTube, Climate Stories Project, and WPI.

Risk to study participants

Some questions may evoke memories that may bring discomfort to the participant. The participant has the right to decline any question and request to move on to a new topic of discussion.

Benefits to research participants and others

This project will benefit CERES in its expansion of its Indonesian cultural village exhibit and in its ability to teach the community about the impact of climate change on life in Indonesia. It will also benefit those of the communities being interviewed, as it will provide a platform for them to share their stories.

Record keeping and confidentiality

The recordings from this study will only be available to the staff at CERES and to the group conducting this project unless given permission to do otherwise. Records of your participation in this study will be held confidential so far as permitted by law. However, the study investigators, the sponsor or its designee and, under certain circumstances, the Worcester Polytechnic Institute Institutional Review Board (WPI IRB) have the right to inspect and have access to confidential data that identify you by name.

Compensation and treatment in the event of injury

We do not believe that participation in this project will involve risk of injury or harm, but if something of that nature does occur, we will not be held liable for such injury or harm. You do not give up any of your legal rights by signing this statement.

Your participation in this research is voluntary

Your refusal to participate will not result in any penalty to you or any loss of benefits to which you may otherwise be entitled. You may decide to stop participating in the research at any time. The project investigators retain the right to cancel or postpone the experimental procedures at any time they see fit.

Initial each statement you agree with:

I give permission for my name and other personal information (including hometown, age, and occupation) collected during the study to be used in the videos.

I give permission for my face to be shown in the videos.

I give permission for this video to be published on public platforms including: CERES visitors app, CERES YouTube channel, Climate Stories Project, and Worcester Polytechnic Institute.

By signing below, I acknowledge that I have read and understand the explanation provided to me. I have had all of my questions answered to my satisfaction and consent to be a participant in the study described above. I am also entitled to a copy of this agreement.

Participant Signature

12/3/2019

Date

FANALDI FEDERICA

Participant Name (please print)

Investigator Signature

12/3/2019

Date

WPI

Informed Consent Agreement for Participation in Ethnographic Film Study of Indonesian Culture and Climate

Investigators: Tahvorn George, Molly O'Connor, Jarod Romankiw, Michelle Zhang

Email Contact: gr-ceres-d19@wpi.edu

Sponsor: CERES Community Environment Park

You are being asked to participate in a research study. Before you agree, however, you must be fully informed about the purpose of the study, the procedures to be followed, and any benefits, risks or discomfort that you may experience as a result of your participation. This form presents information about the study so that you may make a fully informed decision regarding your participation.

Purpose of the study

The purpose of this study is to enrich the learning experience of visitors at CERES environmental park by producing cultural “climate stories” of Indonesians living in Melbourne through a series of ethnographic interview-style videos.

Procedure to be followed

The participant will be required to complete approximately a 30-minute interview with the investigators to share their stories about their life in Indonesia. The interview will be recorded, and the footage may be used to create videos that document their experiences in relation to climate change. The participant will be contacted when videos are complete to ask for their approval of accuracy and appropriate depiction of both the culture and participant. Once the participant has reviewed and approved the videos, they will be integrated into the Indonesian cultural village experience at CERES and other platforms including: YouTube, Climate Stories Project, and WPI.

Risk to study participants

Some questions may evoke memories that may bring discomfort to the participant. The participant has the right to decline any question and request to move on to a new topic of discussion.

Benefits to research participants and others

This project will benefit CERES in its expansion of its Indonesian cultural village exhibit and in its ability to teach the community about the impact of climate change on life in Indonesia. It will also benefit those of the communities being interviewed, as it will provide a platform for them to share their stories.

Record keeping and confidentiality

The recordings from this study will only be available to the staff at CERES and to the group conducting this project unless given permission to do otherwise. Records of your participation in this study will be held confidential so far as permitted by law. However, the study investigators, the sponsor or its designee and, under certain circumstances, the Worcester Polytechnic Institute Institutional Review Board (WPI IRB) have the right to inspect and have access to confidential data that identify you by name.

Compensation and treatment in the event of injury

We do not believe that participation in this project will involve risk of injury or harm, but if something of that nature does occur, we will not be held liable for such injury or harm. You do not give up any of your legal rights by signing this statement.

Your participation in this research is voluntary

Your refusal to participate will not result in any penalty to you or any loss of benefits to which you may otherwise be entitled. You may decide to stop participating in the research at any time. The project investigators retain the right to cancel or postpone the experimental procedures at any time they see fit.

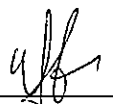

Initial each statement you agree with:

I give permission for my name and other personal information (including hometown, age, and occupation) collected during the study to be used in the videos.

I give permission for my face to be shown in the videos.

I give permission for this video to be published on public platforms including: CERES visitors app, CERES YouTube channel, Climate Stories Project, and Worcester Polytechnic Institute.

By signing below, I acknowledge that I have read and understand the explanation provided to me. I have had all of my questions answered to my satisfaction and consent to be a participant in the study described above. I am also entitled to a copy of this agreement.

Participant Signature

12/3/2019
Date

tsa asbandyah
Participant Name (please print)

Investigator Signature

12/03/2019
Date

WPI

Informed Consent Agreement for Participation in Ethnographic Film Study of Indonesian Culture and Climate

Investigators: Tahvorn George, Molly O'Connor, Jarod Romankiw, Michelle Zhang

Email Contact: gr-ceres-d19@wpi.edu

Sponsor: CERES Community Environment Park

You are being asked to participate in a research study. Before you agree, however, you must be fully informed about the purpose of the study, the procedures to be followed, and any benefits, risks or discomfort that you may experience as a result of your participation. This form presents information about the study so that you may make a fully informed decision regarding your participation.

Purpose of the study

The purpose of this study is to enrich the learning experience of visitors at CERES environmental park by producing cultural "climate stories" of Indonesians living in Melbourne through a series of ethnographic interview-style videos.

Procedure to be followed

The participant will be required to complete approximately a 30-minute interview with the investigators to share their stories about their life in Indonesia. The interview will be recorded, and the footage may be used to create videos that document their experiences in relation to climate change. The participant will be contacted when videos are complete to ask for their approval of accuracy and appropriate depiction of both the culture and participant. Once the participant has reviewed and approved the videos, they will be integrated into the Indonesian cultural village experience at CERES and other platforms including: YouTube, Climate Stories Project, and WPI.

Risk to study participants

Some questions may evoke memories that may bring discomfort to the participant. The participant has the right to decline any question and request to move on to a new topic of discussion.

Benefits to research participants and others

This project will benefit CERES in its expansion of its Indonesian cultural village exhibit and in its ability to teach the community about the impact of climate change on life in Indonesia. It will also benefit those of the communities being interviewed, as it will provide a platform for them to share their stories.

Record keeping and confidentiality

The recordings from this study will only be available to the staff at CERES and to the group conducting this project unless given permission to do otherwise. Records of your participation in this study will be held confidential so far as permitted by law. However, the study investigators, the sponsor or its designee and, under certain circumstances, the Worcester Polytechnic Institute Institutional Review Board (WPI IRB) have the right to inspect and have access to confidential data that identify you by name.

Compensation and treatment in the event of injury

We do not believe that participation in this project will involve risk of injury or harm, but if something of that nature does occur, we will not be held liable for such injury or harm. You do not give up any of your legal rights by signing this statement.

Your participation in this research is voluntary

Your refusal to participate will not result in any penalty to you or any loss of benefits to which you may otherwise be entitled. You may decide to stop participating in the research at any time. The project investigators retain the right to cancel or postpone the experimental procedures at any time they see fit.

Initial each statement you agree with:

I give permission for my name and other personal information (including hometown, age, and occupation) collected during the study to be used in the videos.

I give permission for my face to be shown in the videos.

I give permission for this video to be published on public platforms including: CERES visitors app, CERES YouTube channel, Climate Stories Project, and Worcester Polytechnic Institute.

By signing below, I acknowledge that I have read and understand the explanation provided to me. I have had all of my questions answered to my satisfaction and consent to be a participant in the study described above. I am also entitled to a copy of this agreement.

Participant Signature

Participant Name (please print)

Sukma Dewanti

Investigator Signature

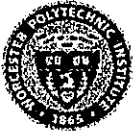

12/03/2019

Date

12/03/2019

Date

WPI

Informed Consent Agreement for Participation in Ethnographic Film Study of Indonesian Culture and Climate

Investigators: Tahvorn George, Molly O'Connor, Jarod Romankiw, Michelle Zhang

Email Contact: gr-ceres-d19@wpi.edu

Sponsor: CERES Community Environment Park

You are being asked to participate in a research study. Before you agree, however, you must be fully informed about the purpose of the study, the procedures to be followed, and any benefits, risks or discomfort that you may experience as a result of your participation. This form presents information about the study so that you may make a fully informed decision regarding your participation.

Purpose of the study

The purpose of this study is to enrich the learning experience of visitors at CERES environmental park by producing cultural "climate stories" of Indonesians living in Melbourne through a series of ethnographic interview-style videos.

Procedure to be followed

The participant will be required to complete approximately a 30-minute interview with the investigators to share their stories about their life in Indonesia. The interview will be recorded, and the footage may be used to create videos that document their experiences in relation to climate change. The participant will be contacted when videos are complete to ask for their approval of accuracy and appropriate depiction of both the culture and participant. Once the participant has reviewed and approved the videos, they will be integrated into the Indonesian cultural village experience at CERES and other platforms including: YouTube, Climate Stories Project, and WPI.

Risk to study participants

Some questions may evoke memories that may bring discomfort to the participant. The participant has the right to decline any question and request to move on to a new topic of discussion.

Benefits to research participants and others

This project will benefit CERES in its expansion of its Indonesian cultural village exhibit and in its ability to teach the community about the impact of climate change on life in Indonesia. It will also benefit those of the communities being interviewed, as it will provide a platform for them to share their stories.

Record keeping and confidentiality

The recordings from this study will only be available to the staff at CERES and to the group conducting this project unless given permission to do otherwise. Records of your participation in this study will be held confidential so far as permitted by law. However, the study investigators, the sponsor or its designee and, under certain circumstances, the Worcester Polytechnic Institute Institutional Review Board (WPI IRB) have the right to inspect and have access to confidential data that identify you by name.

Compensation and treatment in the event of injury

We do not believe that participation in this project will involve risk of injury or harm, but if something of that nature does occur, we will not be held liable for such injury or harm. You do not give up any of your legal rights by signing this statement.

Your participation in this research is voluntary

Your refusal to participate will not result in any penalty to you or any loss of benefits to which you may otherwise be entitled. You may decide to stop participating in the research at any time. The project investigators retain the right to cancel or postpone the experimental procedures at any time they see fit.

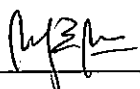

Initial each statement you agree with:

I give permission for my name and other personal information (including hometown, age, and occupation) collected during the study to be used in the videos.

I give permission for my face to be shown in the videos.

I give permission for this video to be published on public platforms including: CERES visitors app, CERES YouTube channel, Climate Stories Project, and Worcester Polytechnic Institute.

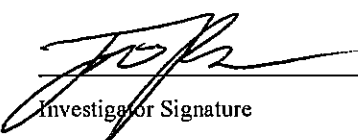

By signing below, I acknowledge that I have read and understand the explanation provided to me. I have had all of my questions answered to my satisfaction and consent to be a participant in the study described above. I am also entitled to a copy of this agreement.

Participant Signature

12/03/19
Date

Nur Enbal RAMAYANTI MUSLIM
Participant Name (please print)

Investigator Signature

12/03/19
Date

WPI

Informed Consent Agreement for Participation in Ethnographic Film Study of Indonesian Culture and Climate

Investigators: Tahvorn George, Molly O'Connor, Jarod Romankiw, Michelle Zhang

Email Contact: gr-ceres-d19@wpi.edu

Sponsor: CERES Community Environment Park

You are being asked to participate in a research study. Before you agree, however, you must be fully informed about the purpose of the study, the procedures to be followed, and any benefits, risks or discomfort that you may experience as a result of your participation. This form presents information about the study so that you may make a fully informed decision regarding your participation.

Purpose of the study

The purpose of this study is to enrich the learning experience of visitors at CERES environmental park by producing cultural "climate stories" of Indonesians living in Melbourne through a series of ethnographic interview-style videos.

Procedure to be followed

The participant will be required to complete approximately a 30-minute interview with the investigators to share their stories about their life in Indonesia. The interview will be recorded, and the footage may be used to create videos that document their experiences in relation to climate change. The participant will be contacted when videos are complete to ask for their approval of accuracy and appropriate depiction of both the culture and participant. Once the participant has reviewed and approved the videos, they will be integrated into the Indonesian cultural village experience at CERES and other platforms including: YouTube, Climate Stories Project, and WPI.

Risk to study participants

Some questions may evoke memories that may bring discomfort to the participant. The participant has the right to decline any question and request to move on to a new topic of discussion.

Benefits to research participants and others

This project will benefit CERES in its expansion of its Indonesian cultural village exhibit and in its ability to teach the community about the impact of climate change on life in Indonesia. It will also benefit those of the communities being interviewed, as it will provide a platform for them to share their stories.

Record keeping and confidentiality

The recordings from this study will only be available to the staff at CERES and to the group conducting this project unless given permission to do otherwise. Records of your participation in this study will be held confidential so far as permitted by law. However, the study investigators, the sponsor or its designee and, under certain circumstances, the Worcester Polytechnic Institute Institutional Review Board (WPI IRB) have the right to inspect and have access to confidential data that identify you by name.

Compensation and treatment in the event of injury

We do not believe that participation in this project will involve risk of injury or harm, but if something of that nature does occur, we will not be held liable for such injury or harm. You do not give up any of your legal rights by signing this statement.

Your participation in this research is voluntary

Your refusal to participate will not result in any penalty to you or any loss of benefits to which you may otherwise be entitled. You may decide to stop participating in the research at any time. The project investigators retain the right to cancel or postpone the experimental procedures at any time they see fit.

Initial each statement you agree with:

I give permission for my name and other personal information (including hometown, age, and occupation) collected during the study to be used in the videos.

I give permission for my face to be shown in the videos.

I give permission for this video to be published on public platforms including: CERES visitors app, CERES YouTube channel, Climate Stories Project, and Worcester Polytechnic Institute.

By signing below, I acknowledge that I have read and understand the explanation provided to me. I have had all of my questions answered to my satisfaction and consent to be a participant in the study described above. I am also entitled to a copy of this agreement.

Participant Signature

12/07/2018
Date

Rizky Rokhman
Participant Name (please print)

Investigator Signature

12/3/2019
Date

WPI

Informed Consent Agreement for Participation in Ethnographic Film Study of Indonesian Culture and Climate

Investigators: Tahvorn George, Molly O'Connor, Jarod Romankiw, Michelle Zhang

Email Contact: gr-ceres-d19@wpi.edu

Sponsor: CERES Community Environment Park

You are being asked to participate in a research study. Before you agree, however, you must be fully informed about the purpose of the study, the procedures to be followed, and any benefits, risks or discomfort that you may experience as a result of your participation. This form presents information about the study so that you may make a fully informed decision regarding your participation.

Purpose of the study

The purpose of this study is to enrich the learning experience of visitors at CERES environmental park by producing cultural "climate stories" of Indonesians living in Melbourne through a series of ethnographic interview-style videos.

Procedure to be followed

The participant will be required to complete approximately a 30-minute interview with the investigators to share their stories about their life in Indonesia. The interview will be recorded, and the footage may be used to create videos that document their experiences in relation to climate change. The participant will be contacted when videos are complete to ask for their approval of accuracy and appropriate depiction of both the culture and participant. Once the participant has reviewed and approved the videos, they will be integrated into the Indonesian cultural village experience at CERES and other platforms including: YouTube, Climate Stories Project, and WPI.

Risk to study participants

Some questions may evoke memories that may bring discomfort to the participant. The participant has the right to decline any question and request to move on to a new topic of discussion.

Benefits to research participants and others

This project will benefit CERES in its expansion of its Indonesian cultural village exhibit and in its ability to teach the community about the impact of climate change on life in Indonesia. It will also benefit those of the communities being interviewed, as it will provide a platform for them to share their stories.

Record keeping and confidentiality

The recordings from this study will only be available to the staff at CERES and to the group conducting this project unless given permission to do otherwise. Records of your participation in this study will be held confidential so far as permitted by law. However, the study investigators, the sponsor or its designee and, under certain circumstances, the Worcester Polytechnic Institute Institutional Review Board (WPI IRB) have the right to inspect and have access to confidential data that identify you by name.

Compensation and treatment in the event of injury

We do not believe that participation in this project will involve risk of injury or harm, but if something of that nature does occur, we will not be held liable for such injury or harm. You do not give up any of your legal rights by signing this statement.

Your participation in this research is voluntary

Your refusal to participate will not result in any penalty to you or any loss of benefits to which you may otherwise be entitled. You may decide to stop participating in the research at any time. The project investigators retain the right to cancel or postpone the experimental procedures at any time they see fit.

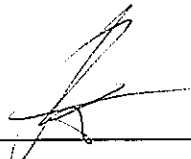

Initial each statement you agree with:

Yes I give permission for my name and other personal information (including hometown, age, and occupation) collected during the study to be used in the videos.

No I give permission for my face to be shown in the videos.

Yes I give permission for this video to be published on public platforms including: CERES visitors app, CERES YouTube channel, Climate Stories Project, and Worcester Polytechnic Institute.

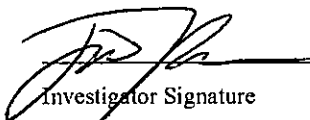

By signing below, I acknowledge that I have read and understand the explanation provided to me. I have had all of my questions answered to my satisfaction and consent to be a participant in the study described above. I am also entitled to a copy of this agreement.

Participant Signature

12/3/2019
Date

CAROLAN G. TORO
Participant Name (please print)

Investigator Signature

12/3/2019
Date

WPI

Informed Consent Agreement for Participation in Ethnographic Film Study of Indonesian Culture and Climate

Investigators: Tahvorn George, Molly O'Connor, Jarod Romankiw, Michelle Zhang

Email Contact: gr-ceres-d19@wpi.edu

Sponsor: CERES Community Environment Park

You are being asked to participate in a research study. Before you agree, however, you must be fully informed about the purpose of the study, the procedures to be followed, and any benefits, risks or discomfort that you may experience as a result of your participation. This form presents information about the study so that you may make a fully informed decision regarding your participation.

Purpose of the study

The purpose of this study is to enrich the learning experience of visitors at CERES environmental park by producing cultural "climate stories" of Indonesians living in Melbourne through a series of ethnographic interview-style videos.

Procedure to be followed

The participant will be required to complete approximately a 30-minute interview with the investigators to share their stories about their life in Indonesia. The interview will be recorded, and the footage may be used to create videos that document their experiences in relation to climate change. The participant will be contacted when videos are complete to ask for their approval of accuracy and appropriate depiction of both the culture and participant. Once the participant has reviewed and approved the videos, they will be integrated into the Indonesian cultural village experience at CERES and other platforms including: YouTube, Climate Stories Project, and WPI.

Risk to study participants

Some questions may evoke memories that may bring discomfort to the participant. The participant has the right to decline any question and request to move on to a new topic of discussion.

Benefits to research participants and others

This project will benefit CERES in its expansion of its Indonesian cultural village exhibit and in its ability to teach the community about the impact of climate change on life in Indonesia. It will also benefit those of the communities being interviewed, as it will provide a platform for them to share their stories.

Record keeping and confidentiality

The recordings from this study will only be available to the staff at CERES and to the group conducting this project unless given permission to do otherwise. Records of your participation in this study will be held confidential so far as permitted by law. However, the study investigators, the sponsor or its designee and, under certain circumstances, the Worcester Polytechnic Institute Institutional Review Board (WPI IRB) have the right to inspect and have access to confidential data that identify you by name.

Compensation and treatment in the event of injury

We do not believe that participation in this project will involve risk of injury or harm, but if something of that nature does occur, we will not be held liable for such injury or harm. You do not give up any of your legal rights by signing this statement.

Your participation in this research is voluntary

Your refusal to participate will not result in any penalty to you or any loss of benefits to which you may otherwise be entitled. You may decide to stop participating in the research at any time. The project investigators retain the right to cancel or postpone the experimental procedures at any time they see fit.

Initial each statement you agree with:

W I give permission for my name and other personal information (including hometown, age, and occupation) collected during the study to be used in the videos.

W I give permission for my face to be shown in the videos.

W I give permission for this video to be published on public platforms including: CERES visitors app, CERES YouTube channel, Climate Stories Project, and Worcester Polytechnic Institute.

By signing below, I acknowledge that I have read and understand the explanation provided to me. I have had all of my questions answered to my satisfaction and consent to be a participant in the study described above. I am also entitled to a copy of this agreement.

Participant Signature

12/03/2019
Date

HENRY PRIYANTO NUGROHO
Participant Name (please print)

Investigator Signature

12/03/2019
Date

WPI

Informed Consent Agreement for Participation in Ethnographic Film Study of Indonesian Culture and Climate

Investigators: Tahvorn George, Molly O'Connor, Jarod Romankiw, Michelle Zhang

Email Contact: gr-ceres-d19@wpi.edu

Sponsor: CERES Community Environment Park

You are being asked to participate in a research study. Before you agree, however, you must be fully informed about the purpose of the study, the procedures to be followed, and any benefits, risks or discomfort that you may experience as a result of your participation. This form presents information about the study so that you may make a fully informed decision regarding your participation.

Purpose of the study

The purpose of this study is to enrich the learning experience of visitors at CERES environmental park by producing cultural "climate stories" of Indonesians living in Melbourne through a series of ethnographic interview-style videos.

Procedure to be followed

The participant will be required to complete approximately a 30-minute interview with the investigators to share their stories about their life in Indonesia. The interview will be recorded, and the footage may be used to create videos that document their experiences in relation to climate change. The participant will be contacted when videos are complete to ask for their approval of accuracy and appropriate depiction of both the culture and participant. Once the participant has reviewed and approved the videos, they will be integrated into the Indonesian cultural village experience at CERES and other platforms including: YouTube, Climate Stories Project, and WPI.

Risk to study participants

Some questions may evoke memories that may bring discomfort to the participant. The participant has the right to decline any question and request to move on to a new topic of discussion.

Benefits to research participants and others

This project will benefit CERES in its expansion of its Indonesian cultural village exhibit and in its ability to teach the community about the impact of climate change on life in Indonesia. It will also benefit those of the communities being interviewed, as it will provide a platform for them to share their stories.

Record keeping and confidentiality

The recordings from this study will only be available to the staff at CERES and to the group conducting this project unless given permission to do otherwise. Records of your participation in this study will be held confidential so far as permitted by law. However, the study investigators, the sponsor or its designee and, under certain circumstances, the Worcester Polytechnic Institute Institutional Review Board (WPI IRB) have the right to inspect and have access to confidential data that identify you by name.

Compensation and treatment in the event of injury

We do not believe that participation in this project will involve risk of injury or harm, but if something of that nature does occur, we will not be held liable for such injury or harm. You do not give up any of your legal rights by signing this statement.

Your participation in this research is voluntary

Your refusal to participate will not result in any penalty to you or any loss of benefits to which you may otherwise be entitled. You may decide to stop participating in the research at any time. The project investigators retain the right to cancel or postpone the experimental procedures at any time they see fit.

Initial each statement you agree with:

RA I give permission for my name and other personal information (including hometown, age, and occupation) collected during the study to be used in the videos.

RA I give permission for my face to be shown in the videos.

RA I give permission for this video to be published on public platforms including: CERES visitors app, CERES YouTube channel, Climate Stories Project, and Worcester Polytechnic Institute.

By signing below, I acknowledge that I have read and understand the explanation provided to me. I have had all of my questions answered to my satisfaction and consent to be a participant in the study described above. I am also entitled to a copy of this agreement.

Participant Signature

12/03/2019

Date

RIO HADYAN ARDDHA

Participant Name (please print)

Investigator Signature

12/03/2019

Date

WPI

Informed Consent Agreement for Participation in Ethnographic Film Study of Indonesian Culture and Climate

Investigators: Tahvorn George, Molly O'Connor, Jarod Romankiw, Michelle Zhang

Email Contact: gr-ceres-d19@wpi.edu

Sponsor: CERES Community Environment Park

You are being asked to participate in a research study. Before you agree, however, you must be fully informed about the purpose of the study, the procedures to be followed, and any benefits, risks or discomfort that you may experience as a result of your participation. This form presents information about the study so that you may make a fully informed decision regarding your participation.

Purpose of the study

The purpose of this study is to enrich the learning experience of visitors at CERES environmental park by producing cultural "climate stories" of Indonesians living in Melbourne through a series of ethnographic interview-style videos.

Procedure to be followed

The participant will be required to complete approximately a 30-minute interview with the investigators to share their stories about their life in Indonesia. The interview will be recorded, and the footage may be used to create videos that document their experiences in relation to climate change. The participant will be contacted when videos are complete to ask for their approval of accuracy and appropriate depiction of both the culture and participant. Once the participant has reviewed and approved the videos, they will be integrated into the Indonesian cultural village experience at CERES and other platforms including: YouTube, Climate Stories Project, and WPI.

Risk to study participants

Some questions may evoke memories that may bring discomfort to the participant. The participant has the right to decline any question and request to move on to a new topic of discussion.

Benefits to research participants and others

This project will benefit CERES in its expansion of its Indonesian cultural village exhibit and in its ability to teach the community about the impact of climate change on life in Indonesia. It will also benefit those of the communities being interviewed, as it will provide a platform for them to share their stories.

Record keeping and confidentiality

The recordings from this study will only be available to the staff at CERES and to the group conducting this project unless given permission to do otherwise. Records of your participation in this study will be held confidential so far as permitted by law. However, the study investigators, the sponsor or its designee and, under certain circumstances, the Worcester Polytechnic Institute Institutional Review Board (WPI IRB) have the right to inspect and have access to confidential data that identify you by name.

Compensation and treatment in the event of injury

We do not believe that participation in this project will involve risk of injury or harm, but if something of that nature does occur, we will not be held liable for such injury or harm. You do not give up any of your legal rights by signing this statement.

Your participation in this research is voluntary

Your refusal to participate will not result in any penalty to you or any loss of benefits to which you may otherwise be entitled. You may decide to stop participating in the research at any time. The project investigators retain the right to cancel or postpone the experimental procedures at any time they see fit.

Initial each statement you agree with:

PK I give permission for my name and other personal information (including hometown, age, and occupation) collected during the study to be used in the videos.

PK I give permission for my face to be shown in the videos.

PK I give permission for this video to be published on public platforms including: CERES visitors app, CERES YouTube channel, Climate Stories Project, and Worcester Polytechnic Institute.

By signing below, I acknowledge that I have read and understand the explanation provided to me. I have had all of my questions answered to my satisfaction and consent to be a participant in the study described above. I am also entitled to a copy of this agreement.

Participant Signature

March 13rd, 2019

Date

Pande Wayan Padmanandini Kayun

Participant Name (please print).

Investigator Signature

3/18/19

Date

WPI

Informed Consent Agreement for Participation in Ethnographic Film Study of Indonesian Culture and Climate

Investigators: Tahvorn George, Molly O'Connor, Jarod Romankiw, Michelle Zhang

Email Contact: gr-ceres-d19@wpi.edu

Sponsor: CERES Community Environment Park

You are being asked to participate in a research study. Before you agree, however, you must be fully informed about the purpose of the study, the procedures to be followed, and any benefits, risks or discomfort that you may experience as a result of your participation. This form presents information about the study so that you may make a fully informed decision regarding your participation.

Purpose of the study

The purpose of this study is to enrich the learning experience of visitors at CERES environmental park by producing cultural “climate stories” of Indonesians living in Melbourne through a series of ethnographic interview-style videos.

Procedure to be followed

The participant will be required to complete approximately a 30-minute interview with the investigators to share their stories about their life in Indonesia. The interview will be recorded, and the footage may be used to create videos that document their experiences in relation to climate change. The participant will be contacted when videos are complete to ask for their approval of accuracy and appropriate depiction of both the culture and participant. Once the participant has reviewed and approved the videos, they will be integrated into the Indonesian cultural village experience at CERES and other platforms including: YouTube, Climate Stories Project, and WPI.

Risk to study participants

Some questions may evoke memories that may bring discomfort to the participant. The participant has the right to decline any question and request to move on to a new topic of discussion.

Benefits to research participants and others

This project will benefit CERES in its expansion of its Indonesian cultural village exhibit and in its ability to teach the community about the impact of climate change on life in Indonesia. It will also benefit those of the communities being interviewed, as it will provide a platform for them to share their stories.

Record keeping and confidentiality

The recordings from this study will only be available to the staff at CERES and to the group conducting this project unless given permission to do otherwise. Records of your participation in this study will be held confidential so far as permitted by law. However, the study investigators, the sponsor or its designee and, under certain circumstances, the Worcester Polytechnic Institute Institutional Review Board (WPI IRB) have the right to inspect and have access to confidential data that identify you by name.

Compensation and treatment in the event of injury

We do not believe that participation in this project will involve risk of injury or harm, but if something of that nature does occur, we will not be held liable for such injury or harm. You do not give up any of your legal rights by signing this statement.

Your participation in this research is voluntary

Your refusal to participate will not result in any penalty to you or any loss of benefits to which you may otherwise be entitled. You may decide to stop participating in the research at any time. The project investigators retain the right to cancel or postpone the experimental procedures at any time they see fit.

Initial each statement you agree with:

I give permission for my name and other personal information (including hometown, age, and occupation) collected during the study to be used in the videos.

I give permission for my face to be shown in the videos.

I give permission for this video to be published on public platforms including: CERES visitors app, CERES YouTube channel, Climate Stories Project, and Worcester Polytechnic Institute.

By signing below, I acknowledge that I have read and understand the explanation provided to me. I have had all of my questions answered to my satisfaction and consent to be a participant in the study described above. I am also entitled to a copy of this agreement.

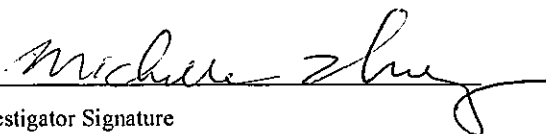

Participant Signature

Date

I Gede Sukma Adisatria Sukadana (Dede)

Participant Name (please print)

Investigator Signature

3/13/19
Date

WPI

Informed Consent Agreement for Participation in Ethnographic Film Study of Indonesian Culture and Climate

Investigators: Tahvorn George, Molly O'Connor, Jarod Romankiw, Michelle Zhang

Email Contact: gr-ceres-d19@wpi.edu

Sponsor: CERES Community Environment Park

You are being asked to participate in a research study. Before you agree, however, you must be fully informed about the purpose of the study, the procedures to be followed, and any benefits, risks or discomfort that you may experience as a result of your participation. This form presents information about the study so that you may make a fully informed decision regarding your participation.

Purpose of the study

The purpose of this study is to enrich the learning experience of visitors at CERES environmental park by producing cultural "climate stories" of Indonesians living in Melbourne through a series of ethnographic interview-style videos.

Procedure to be followed

The participant will be required to complete approximately a 30-minute interview with the investigators to share their stories about their life in Indonesia. The interview will be recorded, and the footage may be used to create videos that document their experiences in relation to climate change. The participant will be contacted when videos are complete to ask for their approval of accuracy and appropriate depiction of both the culture and participant. Once the participant has reviewed and approved the videos, they will be integrated into the Indonesian cultural village experience at CERES and other platforms including: YouTube, Climate Stories Project, and WPI.

Risk to study participants

Some questions may evoke memories that may bring discomfort to the participant. The participant has the right to decline any question and request to move on to a new topic of discussion.

Benefits to research participants and others

This project will benefit CERES in its expansion of its Indonesian cultural village exhibit and in its ability to teach the community about the impact of climate change on life in Indonesia. It will also benefit those of the communities being interviewed, as it will provide a platform for them to share their stories.

Record keeping and confidentiality

The recordings from this study will only be available to the staff at CERES and to the group conducting this project unless given permission to do otherwise. Records of your participation in this study will be held confidential so far as permitted by law. However, the study investigators, the sponsor or its designee and, under certain circumstances, the Worcester Polytechnic Institute Institutional Review Board (WPI IRB) have the right to inspect and have access to confidential data that identify you by name.

Compensation and treatment in the event of injury

We do not believe that participation in this project will involve risk of injury or harm, but if something of that nature does occur, we will not be held liable for such injury or harm. You do not give up any of your legal rights by signing this statement.

Your participation in this research is voluntary

Your refusal to participate will not result in any penalty to you or any loss of benefits to which you may otherwise be entitled. You may decide to stop participating in the research at any time. The project investigators retain the right to cancel or postpone the experimental procedures at any time they see fit.

Initial each statement you agree with:

I give permission for my name and other personal information (including hometown, age, and occupation) collected during the study to be used in the videos.

I give permission for my face to be shown in the videos.

I give permission for this video to be published on public platforms including: CERES visitors app, CERES YouTube channel, Climate Stories Project, and Worcester Polytechnic Institute.

By signing below, I acknowledge that I have read and understand the explanation provided to me. I have had all of my questions answered to my satisfaction and consent to be a participant in the study described above. I am also entitled to a copy of this agreement.

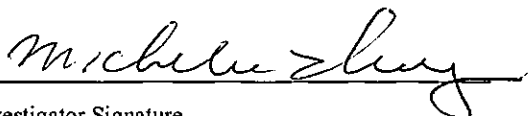

Participant Signature

13/3/19

Date

Anggatahardian

Participant Name (please print)

Investigator Signature

5/13/19

Date

WPI

Informed Consent Agreement for Participation in Ethnographic Film Study of Indonesian Culture and Climate

Investigators: Tahvorn George, Molly O'Connor, Jarod Romankiw, Michelle Zhang

Email Contact: gr-ceres-d19@wpi.edu

Sponsor: CERES Community Environment Park

You are being asked to participate in a research study. Before you agree, however, you must be fully informed about the purpose of the study, the procedures to be followed, and any benefits, risks or discomfort that you may experience as a result of your participation. This form presents information about the study so that you may make a fully informed decision regarding your participation.

Purpose of the study

The purpose of this study is to enrich the learning experience of visitors at CERES environmental park by producing cultural “climate stories” of Indonesians living in Melbourne through a series of ethnographic interview-style videos.

Procedure to be followed

The participant will be required to complete approximately a 30-minute interview with the investigators to share their stories about their life in Indonesia. The interview will be recorded, and the footage may be used to create videos that document their experiences in relation to climate change. The participant will be contacted when videos are complete to ask for their approval of accuracy and appropriate depiction of both the culture and participant. Once the participant has reviewed and approved the videos, they will be integrated into the Indonesian cultural village experience at CERES and other platforms including: YouTube, Climate Stories Project, and WPI.

Risk to study participants

Some questions may evoke memories that may bring discomfort to the participant. The participant has the right to decline any question and request to move on to a new topic of discussion.

Benefits to research participants and others

This project will benefit CERES in its expansion of its Indonesian cultural village exhibit and in its ability to teach the community about the impact of climate change on life in Indonesia. It will also benefit those of the communities being interviewed, as it will provide a platform for them to share their stories.

Record keeping and confidentiality

The recordings from this study will only be available to the staff at CERES and to the group conducting this project unless given permission to do otherwise. Records of your participation in this study will be held confidential so far as permitted by law. However, the study investigators, the sponsor or its designee and, under certain circumstances, the Worcester Polytechnic Institute Institutional Review Board (WPI IRB) have the right to inspect and have access to confidential data that identify you by name.

Compensation and treatment in the event of injury

We do not believe that participation in this project will involve risk of injury or harm, but if something of that nature does occur, we will not be held liable for such injury or harm. You do not give up any of your legal rights by signing this statement.

Your participation in this research is voluntary

Your refusal to participate will not result in any penalty to you or any loss of benefits to which you may otherwise be entitled. You may decide to stop participating in the research at any time. The project investigators retain the right to cancel or postpone the experimental procedures at any time they see fit.

Initial each statement you agree with:

I give permission for my name and other personal information (including hometown, age, and occupation) collected during the study to be used in the videos.

I give permission for my face to be shown in the videos.

I give permission for this video to be published on public platforms including: CERES visitors app, CERES YouTube channel, Climate Stories Project, and Worcester Polytechnic Institute.

By signing below, I acknowledge that I have read and understand the explanation provided to me. I have had all of my questions answered to my satisfaction and consent to be a participant in the study described above. I am also entitled to a copy of this agreement.

Participant Signature

12 March 2019
Date

Evi Singh
Participant Name (please print)

Investigator Signature

3/13/19
Date

WPI

Informed Consent Agreement for Participation in Ethnographic Film Study of Indonesian Culture and Climate

Investigators: Tahvorn George, Molly O'Connor, Jarod Romankiw, Michelle Zhang

Email Contact: gr-ceres-d19@wpi.edu

Sponsor: CERES Community Environment Park

You are being asked to participate in a research study. Before you agree, however, you must be fully informed about the purpose of the study, the procedures to be followed, and any benefits, risks or discomfort that you may experience as a result of your participation. This form presents information about the study so that you may make a fully informed decision regarding your participation.

Purpose of the study

The purpose of this study is to enrich the learning experience of visitors at CERES environmental park by producing cultural "climate stories" of Indonesians living in Melbourne through a series of ethnographic interview-style videos.

Procedure to be followed

The participant will be required to complete approximately a 30-minute interview with the investigators to share their stories about their life in Indonesia. The interview will be recorded, and the footage may be used to create videos that document their experiences in relation to climate change. The participant will be contacted when videos are complete to ask for their approval of accuracy and appropriate depiction of both the culture and participant. Once the participant has reviewed and approved the videos, they will be integrated into the Indonesian cultural village experience at CERES and other platforms including: YouTube, Climate Stories Project, and WPI.

Risk to study participants

Some questions may evoke memories that may bring discomfort to the participant. The participant has the right to decline any question and request to move on to a new topic of discussion.

Benefits to research participants and others

This project will benefit CERES in its expansion of its Indonesian cultural village exhibit and in its ability to teach the community about the impact of climate change on life in Indonesia. It will also benefit those of the communities being interviewed, as it will provide a platform for them to share their stories.

Record keeping and confidentiality

The recordings from this study will only be available to the staff at CERES and to the group conducting this project unless given permission to do otherwise. Records of your participation in this study will be held confidential so far as permitted by law. However, the study investigators, the sponsor or its designee and, under certain circumstances, the Worcester Polytechnic Institute Institutional Review Board (WPI IRB) have the right to inspect and have access to confidential data that identify you by name.

Compensation and treatment in the event of injury

We do not believe that participation in this project will involve risk of injury or harm, but if something of that nature does occur, we will not be held liable for such injury or harm. You do not give up any of your legal rights by signing this statement.

Your participation in this research is voluntary

Your refusal to participate will not result in any penalty to you or any loss of benefits to which you may otherwise be entitled. You may decide to stop participating in the research at any time. The project investigators retain the right to cancel or postpone the experimental procedures at any time they see fit.

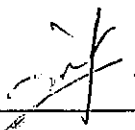

Initial each statement you agree with:

WS I give permission for my name and other personal information (including hometown, age, and occupation) collected during the study to be used in the videos.

WS I give permission for my face to be shown in the videos.

WS I give permission for this video to be published on public platforms including: CERES visitors app, CERES YouTube channel, Climate Stories Project, and Worcester Polytechnic Institute.

By signing below, I acknowledge that I have read and understand the explanation provided to me. I have had all of my questions answered to my satisfaction and consent to be a participant in the study described above. I am also entitled to a copy of this agreement.

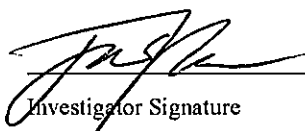

Participant Signature

13-3-2019
Date

Wiyon Septro

Participant Name (please print)

Investigator Signature

13-03-2019
Date

WPI

Informed Consent Agreement for Participation in Ethnographic Film Study of Indonesian Culture and Climate

Investigators: Tahvorn George, Molly O'Connor, Jarod Romankiw, Michelle Zhang

Email Contact: gr-ceres-d19@wpi.edu

Sponsor: CERES Community Environment Park

You are being asked to participate in a research study. Before you agree, however, you must be fully informed about the purpose of the study, the procedures to be followed, and any benefits, risks or discomfort that you may experience as a result of your participation. This form presents information about the study so that you may make a fully informed decision regarding your participation.

Purpose of the study

The purpose of this study is to enrich the learning experience of visitors at CERES environmental park by producing cultural “climate stories” of Indonesians living in Melbourne through a series of ethnographic interview-style videos.

Procedure to be followed

The participant will be required to complete approximately a 30-minute interview with the investigators to share their stories about their life in Indonesia. The interview will be recorded, and the footage may be used to create videos that document their experiences in relation to climate change. The participant will be contacted when videos are complete to ask for their approval of accuracy and appropriate depiction of both the culture and participant. Once the participant has reviewed and approved the videos, they will be integrated into the Indonesian cultural village experience at CERES and other platforms including: YouTube, Climate Stories Project, and WPI.

Risk to study participants

Some questions may evoke memories that may bring discomfort to the participant. The participant has the right to decline any question and request to move on to a new topic of discussion.

Benefits to research participants and others

This project will benefit CERES in its expansion of its Indonesian cultural village exhibit and in its ability to teach the community about the impact of climate change on life in Indonesia. It will also benefit those of the communities being interviewed, as it will provide a platform for them to share their stories.

Record keeping and confidentiality

The recordings from this study will only be available to the staff at CERES and to the group conducting this project unless given permission to do otherwise. Records of your participation in this study will be held confidential so far as permitted by law. However, the study investigators, the sponsor or its designee and, under certain circumstances, the Worcester Polytechnic Institute Institutional Review Board (WPI IRB) have the right to inspect and have access to confidential data that identify you by name.

Compensation and treatment in the event of injury

We do not believe that participation in this project will involve risk of injury or harm, but if something of that nature does occur, we will not be held liable for such injury or harm. You do not give up any of your legal rights by signing this statement.

Your participation in this research is voluntary

Your refusal to participate will not result in any penalty to you or any loss of benefits to which you may otherwise be entitled. You may decide to stop participating in the research at any time. The project investigators retain the right to cancel or postpone the experimental procedures at any time they see fit.

Initial each statement you agree with:

I give permission for my name and other personal information (including hometown, age, and occupation) collected during the study to be used in the videos.

I give permission for my face to be shown in the videos.

I give permission for this video to be published on public platforms including: CERES visitors app, CERES YouTube channel, Climate Stories Project, and Worcester Polytechnic Institute.

By signing below, I acknowledge that I have read and understand the explanation provided to me. I have had all of my questions answered to my satisfaction and consent to be a participant in the study described above. I am also entitled to a copy of this agreement.

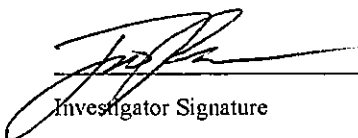

Participant Signature

March 13th 2019

Date

Natasha Amanda Zulharmen

Participant Name (please print)

Investigator Signature

13/03/2019

Date

WPI

Informed Consent Agreement for Participation in Ethnographic Film Study of Indonesian Culture and Climate

Investigators: Tahvorn George, Molly O'Connor, Jarod Romankiw, Michelle Zhang

Email Contact: gr-ceres-d19@wpi.edu

Sponsor: CERES Community Environment Park

You are being asked to participate in a research study. Before you agree, however, you must be fully informed about the purpose of the study, the procedures to be followed, and any benefits, risks or discomfort that you may experience as a result of your participation. This form presents information about the study so that you may make a fully informed decision regarding your participation.

Purpose of the study

The purpose of this study is to enrich the learning experience of visitors at CERES environmental park by producing cultural "climate stories" of Indonesians living in Melbourne through a series of ethnographic interview-style videos.

Procedure to be followed

The participant will be required to complete approximately a 30-minute interview with the investigators to share their stories about their life in Indonesia. The interview will be recorded, and the footage may be used to create videos that document their experiences in relation to climate change. The participant will be contacted when videos are complete to ask for their approval of accuracy and appropriate depiction of both the culture and participant. Once the participant has reviewed and approved the videos, they will be integrated into the Indonesian cultural village experience at CERES and other platforms including: YouTube, Climate Stories Project, and WPI.

Risk to study participants

Some questions may evoke memories that may bring discomfort to the participant. The participant has the right to decline any question and request to move on to a new topic of discussion.

Benefits to research participants and others

This project will benefit CERES in its expansion of its Indonesian cultural village exhibit and in its ability to teach the community about the impact of climate change on life in Indonesia. It will also benefit those of the communities being interviewed, as it will provide a platform for them to share their stories.

Record keeping and confidentiality

The recordings from this study will only be available to the staff at CERES and to the group conducting this project unless given permission to do otherwise. Records of your participation in this study will be held confidential so far as permitted by law. However, the study investigators, the sponsor or its designee and, under certain circumstances, the Worcester Polytechnic Institute Institutional Review Board (WPI IRB) have the right to inspect and have access to confidential data that identify you by name.

Compensation and treatment in the event of injury

We do not believe that participation in this project will involve risk of injury or harm, but if something of that nature does occur, we will not be held liable for such injury or harm. You do not give up any of your legal rights by signing this statement.

Your participation in this research is voluntary

Your refusal to participate will not result in any penalty to you or any loss of benefits to which you may otherwise be entitled. You may decide to stop participating in the research at any time. The project investigators retain the right to cancel or postpone the experimental procedures at any time they see fit.

Initial each statement you agree with:

I give permission for my name and other personal information (including hometown, age, and occupation) collected during the study to be used in the videos.

I give permission for my face to be shown in the videos.

I give permission for this video to be published on public platforms including: CERES visitors app, CERES YouTube channel, Climate Stories Project, and Worcester Polytechnic Institute.

By signing below, I acknowledge that I have read and understand the explanation provided to me. I have had all of my questions answered to my satisfaction and consent to be a participant in the study described above. I am also entitled to a copy of this agreement.

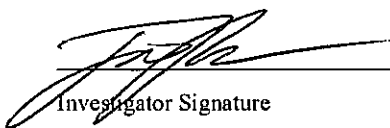

Participant Signature

March 13th 2019

Date

Mutiara Pramadhanti Mochtud

Participant Name (please print)

Investigator Signature

13/3/2019

Date

WPI

Informed Consent Agreement for Participation in Ethnographic Film Study of Indonesian Culture and Climate

Investigators: Tahvorn George, Molly O'Connor, Jarod Romankiw, Michelle Zhang

Email Contact: gr-ceres-d19@wpi.edu

Sponsor: CERES Community Environment Park

You are being asked to participate in a research study. Before you agree, however, you must be fully informed about the purpose of the study, the procedures to be followed, and any benefits, risks or discomfort that you may experience as a result of your participation. This form presents information about the study so that you may make a fully informed decision regarding your participation.

Purpose of the study

The purpose of this study is to enrich the learning experience of visitors at CERES environmental park by producing cultural “climate stories” of Indonesians living in Melbourne through a series of ethnographic interview-style videos.

Procedure to be followed

The participant will be required to complete approximately a 30-minute interview with the investigators to share their stories about their life in Indonesia. The interview will be recorded, and the footage may be used to create videos that document their experiences in relation to climate change. The participant will be contacted when videos are complete to ask for their approval of accuracy and appropriate depiction of both the culture and participant. Once the participant has reviewed and approved the videos, they will be integrated into the Indonesian cultural village experience at CERES and other platforms including: YouTube, Climate Stories Project, and WPI.

Risk to study participants

Some questions may evoke memories that may bring discomfort to the participant. The participant has the right to decline any question and request to move on to a new topic of discussion.

Benefits to research participants and others

This project will benefit CERES in its expansion of its Indonesian cultural village exhibit and in its ability to teach the community about the impact of climate change on life in Indonesia. It will also benefit those of the communities being interviewed, as it will provide a platform for them to share their stories.

Record keeping and confidentiality

The recordings from this study will only be available to the staff at CERES and to the group conducting this project unless given permission to do otherwise. Records of your participation in this study will be held confidential so far as permitted by law. However, the study investigators, the sponsor or its designee and, under certain circumstances, the Worcester Polytechnic Institute Institutional Review Board (WPI IRB) have the right to inspect and have access to confidential data that identify you by name.

Compensation and treatment in the event of injury

We do not believe that participation in this project will involve risk of injury or harm, but if something of that nature does occur, we will not be held liable for such injury or harm. You do not give up any of your legal rights by signing this statement.

Your participation in this research is voluntary

Your refusal to participate will not result in any penalty to you or any loss of benefits to which you may otherwise be entitled. You may decide to stop participating in the research at any time. The project investigators retain the right to cancel or postpone the experimental procedures at any time they see fit.

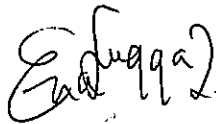

Initial each statement you agree with:

✓ I give permission for my name and other personal information (including hometown, age, and occupation) collected during the study to be used in the videos.

✓ I give permission for my face to be shown in the videos.

✓ I give permission for this video to be published on public platforms including: CERES visitors app, CERES YouTube channel, Climate Stories Project, and Worcester Polytechnic Institute.

By signing below, I acknowledge that I have read and understand the explanation provided to me. I have had all of my questions answered to my satisfaction and consent to be a participant in the study described above. I am also entitled to a copy of this agreement.

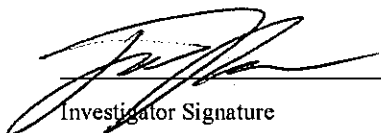

Participant Signature

13/3/2019

Date

Ezra Fregos Zephania

Participant Name (please print)

Investigator Signature

13/3/2019

Date

ISC

WPI

Informed Consent Agreement for Participation in Ethnographic Film Study of Indonesian Culture and Climate

Investigators: Tahvorn George, Molly O'Connor, Jarod Romankiw, Michelle Zhang

Email Contact: gr-ceres-d19@wpi.edu

Sponsor: CERES Community Environment Park

You are being asked to participate in a research study. Before you agree, however, you must be fully informed about the purpose of the study, the procedures to be followed, and any benefits, risks or discomfort that you may experience as a result of your participation. This form presents information about the study so that you may make a fully informed decision regarding your participation.

Purpose of the study

The purpose of this study is to enrich the learning experience of visitors at CERES environmental park by producing cultural "climate stories" of Indonesians living in Melbourne through a series of ethnographic interview-style videos.

Procedure to be followed

The participant will be required to complete approximately a 30-minute interview with the investigators to share their stories about their life in Indonesia. The interview will be recorded, and the footage may be used to create videos that document their experiences in relation to climate change. The participant will be contacted when videos are complete to ask for their approval of accuracy and appropriate depiction of both the culture and participant. Once the participant has reviewed and approved the videos, they will be integrated into the Indonesian cultural village experience at CERES and other platforms including: YouTube, Climate Stories Project, and WPI.

Risk to study participants

Some questions may evoke memories that may bring discomfort to the participant. The participant has the right to decline any question and request to move on to a new topic of discussion.

Benefits to research participants and others

This project will benefit CERES in its expansion of its Indonesian cultural village exhibit and in its ability to teach the community about the impact of climate change on life in Indonesia. It will also benefit those of the communities being interviewed, as it will provide a platform for them to share their stories.

WPI

Informed Consent Agreement for Participation in Ethnographic Film Study of Indonesian Culture and Climate

Investigators: Tahvorn George, Molly O'Connor, Jarod Romankiw, Michelle Zhang

Email Contact: gr-ceres-d19@wpi.edu

Sponsor: CERES Community Environment Park

You are being asked to participate in a research study. Before you agree, however, you must be fully informed about the purpose of the study, the procedures to be followed, and any benefits, risks or discomfort that you may experience as a result of your participation. This form presents information about the study so that you may make a fully informed decision regarding your participation.

Purpose of the study

The purpose of this study is to enrich the learning experience of visitors at CERES environmental park by producing cultural “climate stories” of Indonesians living in Melbourne through a series of ethnographic interview-style videos.

Procedure to be followed

The participant will be required to complete approximately a 30-minute interview with the investigators to share their stories about their life in Indonesia. The interview will be recorded, and the footage may be used to create videos that document their experiences in relation to climate change. The participant will be contacted when videos are complete to ask for their approval of accuracy and appropriate depiction of both the culture and participant. Once the participant has reviewed and approved the videos, they will be integrated into the Indonesian cultural village experience at CERES and other platforms including: YouTube, Climate Stories Project, and WPI.

Risk to study participants

Some questions may evoke memories that may bring discomfort to the participant. The participant has the right to decline any question and request to move on to a new topic of discussion.

Benefits to research participants and others

This project will benefit CERES in its expansion of its Indonesian cultural village exhibit and in its ability to teach the community about the impact of climate change on life in Indonesia. It will also benefit those of the communities being interviewed, as it will provide a platform for them to share their stories.

Record keeping and confidentiality

The recordings from this study will only be available to the staff at CERES and to the group conducting this project unless given permission to do otherwise. Records of your participation in this study will be held confidential so far as permitted by law. However, the study investigators, the sponsor or its designee and, under certain circumstances, the Worcester Polytechnic Institute Institutional Review Board (WPI IRB) have the right to inspect and have access to confidential data that identify you by name.

Compensation and treatment in the event of injury

We do not believe that participation in this project will involve risk of injury or harm, but if something of that nature does occur, we will not be held liable for such injury or harm. You do not give up any of your legal rights by signing this statement.

Your participation in this research is voluntary

Your refusal to participate will not result in any penalty to you or any loss of benefits to which you may otherwise be entitled. You may decide to stop participating in the research at any time. The project investigators retain the right to cancel or postpone the experimental procedures at any time they see fit.

Initial each statement you agree with:

 N I give permission for my name and other personal information (including hometown, age, and occupation) collected during the study to be used in the videos.

 N I give permission for my face to be shown in the videos.

 N I give permission for this video to be published on public platforms including: CERES visitors app, CERES YouTube channel, Climate Stories Project, and Worcester Polytechnic Institute.

By signing below, I acknowledge that I have read and understand the explanation provided to me. I have had all of my questions answered to my satisfaction and consent to be a participant in the study described above. I am also entitled to a copy of this agreement.

Participant Signature

13 / 03 / 19

Date

Nadia Putri

Participant Name (please print)

Investigator Signature

13/03/2019

Date

WPI

Informed Consent Agreement for Participation in Ethnographic Film Study of Indonesian Culture and Climate

Investigators: Tahvorn George, Molly O'Connor, Jarod Romankiw, Michelle Zhang

Email Contact: gr-ceres-d19@wpi.edu

Sponsor: CERES Community Environment Park

You are being asked to participate in a research study. Before you agree, however, you must be fully informed about the purpose of the study, the procedures to be followed, and any benefits, risks or discomfort that you may experience as a result of your participation. This form presents information about the study so that you may make a fully informed decision regarding your participation.

Purpose of the study

The purpose of this study is to enrich the learning experience of visitors at CERES environmental park by producing cultural “climate stories” of Indonesians living in Melbourne through a series of ethnographic interview-style videos.

Procedure to be followed

The participant will be required to complete approximately a 30-minute interview with the investigators to share their stories about their life in Indonesia. The interview will be recorded, and the footage may be used to create videos that document their experiences in relation to climate change. The participant will be contacted when videos are complete to ask for their approval of accuracy and appropriate depiction of both the culture and participant. Once the participant has reviewed and approved the videos, they will be integrated into the Indonesian cultural village experience at CERES and other platforms including: YouTube, Climate Stories Project, and WPI.

Risk to study participants

Some questions may evoke memories that may bring discomfort to the participant. The participant has the right to decline any question and request to move on to a new topic of discussion.

Benefits to research participants and others

This project will benefit CERES in its expansion of its Indonesian cultural village exhibit and in its ability to teach the community about the impact of climate change on life in Indonesia. It will also benefit those of the communities being interviewed, as it will provide a platform for them to share their stories.

Record keeping and confidentiality

The recordings from this study will only be available to the staff at CERES and to the group conducting this project unless given permission to do otherwise. Records of your participation in this study will be held confidential so far as permitted by law. However, the study investigators, the sponsor or its designee and, under certain circumstances, the Worcester Polytechnic Institute Institutional Review Board (WPI IRB) have the right to inspect and have access to confidential data that identify you by name.

Compensation and treatment in the event of injury

We do not believe that participation in this project will involve risk of injury or harm, but if something of that nature does occur, we will not be held liable for such injury or harm. You do not give up any of your legal rights by signing this statement.

Your participation in this research is voluntary

Your refusal to participate will not result in any penalty to you or any loss of benefits to which you may otherwise be entitled. You may decide to stop participating in the research at any time. The project investigators retain the right to cancel or postpone the experimental procedures at any time they see fit.

Initial each statement you agree with:

Z I give permission for my name and other personal information (including hometown, age, and occupation) collected during the study to be used in the videos.

Z I give permission for my face to be shown in the videos.

Z I give permission for this video to be published on public platforms including: CERES visitors app, CERES YouTube channel, Climate Stories Project, and Worcester Polytechnic Institute.

By signing below, I acknowledge that I have read and understand the explanation provided to me. I have had all of my questions answered to my satisfaction and consent to be a participant in the study described above. I am also entitled to a copy of this agreement.

Zahra
Participant Signature

13 / 03 / 2019
Date

Zahra Kautsarina Hanifah
Participant Name (please print)

[Signature]
Investigator Signature

13/03/2019
Date

WPI

Informed Consent Agreement for Participation in Ethnographic Film Study of Indonesian Culture and Climate

Investigators: Tahvorn George, Molly O'Connor, Jarod Romankiw, Michelle Zhang

Email Contact: gr-ceres-d19@wpi.edu

Sponsor: CERES Community Environment Park

You are being asked to participate in a research study. Before you agree, however, you must be fully informed about the purpose of the study, the procedures to be followed, and any benefits, risks or discomfort that you may experience as a result of your participation. This form presents information about the study so that you may make a fully informed decision regarding your participation.

Purpose of the study

The purpose of this study is to enrich the learning experience of visitors at CERES environmental park by producing cultural "climate stories" of Indonesians living in Melbourne through a series of ethnographic interview-style videos.

Procedure to be followed

The participant will be required to complete approximately a 30-minute interview with the investigators to share their stories about their life in Indonesia. The interview will be recorded, and the footage may be used to create videos that document their experiences in relation to climate change. The participant will be contacted when videos are complete to ask for their approval of accuracy and appropriate depiction of both the culture and participant. Once the participant has reviewed and approved the videos, they will be integrated into the Indonesian cultural village experience at CERES and other platforms including: YouTube, Climate Stories Project, and WPI.

Risk to study participants

Some questions may evoke memories that may bring discomfort to the participant. The participant has the right to decline any question and request to move on to a new topic of discussion.

Benefits to research participants and others

This project will benefit CERES in its expansion of its Indonesian cultural village exhibit and in its ability to teach the community about the impact of climate change on life in Indonesia. It will also benefit those of the communities being interviewed, as it will provide a platform for them to share their stories.

Record keeping and confidentiality

The recordings from this study will only be available to the staff at CERES and to the group conducting this project unless given permission to do otherwise. Records of your participation in this study will be held confidential so far as permitted by law. However, the study investigators, the sponsor or its designee and, under certain circumstances, the Worcester Polytechnic Institute Institutional Review Board (WPI IRB) have the right to inspect and have access to confidential data that identify you by name.

Compensation and treatment in the event of injury

We do not believe that participation in this project will involve risk of injury or harm, but if something of that nature does occur, we will not be held liable for such injury or harm. You do not give up any of your legal rights by signing this statement.

Your participation in this research is voluntary

Your refusal to participate will not result in any penalty to you or any loss of benefits to which you may otherwise be entitled. You may decide to stop participating in the research at any time. The project investigators retain the right to cancel or postpone the experimental procedures at any time they see fit.

Initial each statement you agree with:

I give permission for my name and other personal information (including hometown, age, and occupation) collected during the study to be used in the videos.

I give permission for my face to be shown in the videos.

I give permission for this video to be published on public platforms including: CERES visitors app, CERES YouTube channel, Climate Stories Project, and Worcester Polytechnic Institute.

By signing below, I acknowledge that I have read and understand the explanation provided to me. I have had all of my questions answered to my satisfaction and consent to be a participant in the study described above. I am also entitled to a copy of this agreement.

Participant Signature

13 / 03 / 19

Date

VIRA THIRZANI

Participant Name (please print)

Investigator Signature

13/03/19

Date

WPI

Informed Consent Agreement for Participation in Ethnographic Film Study of Indonesian Culture and Climate

Investigators: Tahvorn George, Molly O'Connor, Jarod Romankiw, Michelle Zhang

Email Contact: gr-ceres-d19@wpi.edu

Sponsor: CERES Community Environment Park

You are being asked to participate in a research study. Before you agree, however, you must be fully informed about the purpose of the study, the procedures to be followed, and any benefits, risks or discomfort that you may experience as a result of your participation. This form presents information about the study so that you may make a fully informed decision regarding your participation.

Purpose of the study

The purpose of this study is to enrich the learning experience of visitors at CERES environmental park by producing cultural "climate stories" of Indonesians living in Melbourne through a series of ethnographic interview-style videos.

Procedure to be followed

The participant will be required to complete approximately a 30-minute interview with the investigators to share their stories about their life in Indonesia. The interview will be recorded, and the footage may be used to create videos that document their experiences in relation to climate change. The participant will be contacted when videos are complete to ask for their approval of accuracy and appropriate depiction of both the culture and participant. Once the participant has reviewed and approved the videos, they will be integrated into the Indonesian cultural village experience at CERES and other platforms including: YouTube, Climate Stories Project, and WPI.

Risk to study participants

Some questions may evoke memories that may bring discomfort to the participant. The participant has the right to decline any question and request to move on to a new topic of discussion.

Benefits to research participants and others

This project will benefit CERES in its expansion of its Indonesian cultural village exhibit and in its ability to teach the community about the impact of climate change on life in Indonesia. It will also benefit those of the communities being interviewed, as it will provide a platform for them to share their stories.

Record keeping and confidentiality

The recordings from this study will only be available to the staff at CERES and to the group conducting this project unless given permission to do otherwise. Records of your participation in this study will be held confidential so far as permitted by law. However, the study investigators, the sponsor or its designee and, under certain circumstances, the Worcester Polytechnic Institute Institutional Review Board (WPI IRB) have the right to inspect and have access to confidential data that identify you by name.

Compensation and treatment in the event of injury

We do not believe that participation in this project will involve risk of injury or harm, but if something of that nature does occur, we will not be held liable for such injury or harm. You do not give up any of your legal rights by signing this statement.

Your participation in this research is voluntary

Your refusal to participate will not result in any penalty to you or any loss of benefits to which you may otherwise be entitled. You may decide to stop participating in the research at any time. The project investigators retain the right to cancel or postpone the experimental procedures at any time they see fit.

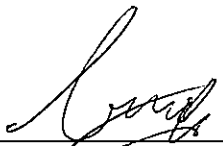

Initial each statement you agree with:

I give permission for my name and other personal information (including hometown, age, and occupation) collected during the study to be used in the videos.

I give permission for my face to be shown in the videos.

I give permission for this video to be published on public platforms including: CERES visitors app, CERES YouTube channel, Climate Stories Project, and Worcester Polytechnic Institute.

By signing below, I acknowledge that I have read and understand the explanation provided to me. I have had all of my questions answered to my satisfaction and consent to be a participant in the study described above. I am also entitled to a copy of this agreement.

Participant Signature

13/13/2019

Date

Franciscus William Saclite

Participant Name (please print)

Investigator Signature

13/13/2019

Date

WPI

Informed Consent Agreement for Participation in Ethnographic Film Study of Indonesian Culture and Climate

Investigators: Tahvorn George, Molly O'Connor, Jarod Romankiw, Michelle Zhang

Email Contact: gr-ceres-d19@wpi.edu

Sponsor: CERES Community Environment Park

You are being asked to participate in a research study. Before you agree, however, you must be fully informed about the purpose of the study, the procedures to be followed, and any benefits, risks or discomfort that you may experience as a result of your participation. This form presents information about the study so that you may make a fully informed decision regarding your participation.

Purpose of the study

The purpose of this study is to enrich the learning experience of visitors at CERES environmental park by producing cultural "climate stories" of Indonesians living in Melbourne through a series of ethnographic interview-style videos.

Procedure to be followed

The participant will be required to complete approximately a 30-minute interview with the investigators to share their stories about their life in Indonesia. The interview will be recorded, and the footage may be used to create videos that document their experiences in relation to climate change. The participant will be contacted when videos are complete to ask for their approval of accuracy and appropriate depiction of both the culture and participant. Once the participant has reviewed and approved the videos, they will be integrated into the Indonesian cultural village experience at CERES and other platforms including: YouTube, Climate Stories Project, and WPI.

Risk to study participants

Some questions may evoke memories that may bring discomfort to the participant. The participant has the right to decline any question and request to move on to a new topic of discussion.

Benefits to research participants and others

This project will benefit CERES in its expansion of its Indonesian cultural village exhibit and in its ability to teach the community about the impact of climate change on life in Indonesia. It will also benefit those of the communities being interviewed, as it will provide a platform for them to share their stories.

Record keeping and confidentiality

The recordings from this study will only be available to the staff at CERES and to the group conducting this project unless given permission to do otherwise. Records of your participation in this study will be held confidential so far as permitted by law. However, the study investigators, the sponsor or its designee and, under certain circumstances, the Worcester Polytechnic Institute Institutional Review Board (WPI IRB) have the right to inspect and have access to confidential data that identify you by name.

Compensation and treatment in the event of injury

We do not believe that participation in this project will involve risk of injury or harm, but if something of that nature does occur, we will not be held liable for such injury or harm. You do not give up any of your legal rights by signing this statement.

Your participation in this research is voluntary

Your refusal to participate will not result in any penalty to you or any loss of benefits to which you may otherwise be entitled. You may decide to stop participating in the research at any time. The project investigators retain the right to cancel or postpone the experimental procedures at any time they see fit.

Initial each statement you agree with:

I give permission for my name and other personal information (including hometown, age, and occupation) collected during the study to be used in the videos.

I give permission for my face to be shown in the videos.

I give permission for this video to be published on public platforms including: CERES visitors app, CERES YouTube channel, Climate Stories Project, and Worcester Polytechnic Institute.

By signing below, I acknowledge that I have read and understand the explanation provided to me. I have had all of my questions answered to my satisfaction and consent to be a participant in the study described above. I am also entitled to a copy of this agreement.

Participant Signature

14/3/2019

Date

SITI NURLAILA INDRANI

Participant Name (please print)

Investigator Signature

14/3/2019

Date

WPI

Informed Consent Agreement for Participation in Ethnographic Film Study of Indonesian Culture and Climate

Investigators: Tahvorn George, Molly O'Connor, Jarod Romankiw, Michelle Zhang

Email Contact: gr-ceres-d19@wpi.edu

Sponsor: CERES Community Environment Park

You are being asked to participate in a research study. Before you agree, however, you must be fully informed about the purpose of the study, the procedures to be followed, and any benefits, risks or discomfort that you may experience as a result of your participation. This form presents information about the study so that you may make a fully informed decision regarding your participation.

Purpose of the study

The purpose of this study is to enrich the learning experience of visitors at CERES environmental park by producing cultural “climate stories” of Indonesians living in Melbourne through a series of ethnographic interview-style videos.

Procedure to be followed

The participant will be required to complete approximately a 30-minute interview with the investigators to share their stories about their life in Indonesia. The interview will be recorded, and the footage may be used to create videos that document their experiences in relation to climate change. The participant will be contacted when videos are complete to ask for their approval of accuracy and appropriate depiction of both the culture and participant. Once the participant has reviewed and approved the videos, they will be integrated into the Indonesian cultural village experience at CERES and other platforms including: YouTube, Climate Stories Project, and WPI.

Risk to study participants

Some questions may evoke memories that may bring discomfort to the participant. The participant has the right to decline any question and request to move on to a new topic of discussion.

Benefits to research participants and others

This project will benefit CERES in its expansion of its Indonesian cultural village exhibit and in its ability to teach the community about the impact of climate change on life in Indonesia. It will also benefit those of the communities being interviewed, as it will provide a platform for them to share their stories.

Record keeping and confidentiality

The recordings from this study will only be available to the staff at CERES and to the group conducting this project unless given permission to do otherwise. Records of your participation in this study will be held confidential so far as permitted by law. However, the study investigators, the sponsor or its designee and, under certain circumstances, the Worcester Polytechnic Institute Institutional Review Board (WPI IRB) have the right to inspect and have access to confidential data that identify you by name.

Compensation and treatment in the event of injury

We do not believe that participation in this project will involve risk of injury or harm, but if something of that nature does occur, we will not be held liable for such injury or harm. You do not give up any of your legal rights by signing this statement.

Your participation in this research is voluntary

Your refusal to participate will not result in any penalty to you or any loss of benefits to which you may otherwise be entitled. You may decide to stop participating in the research at any time. The project investigators retain the right to cancel or postpone the experimental procedures at any time they see fit.

Initial each statement you agree with:

I give permission for my name and other personal information (including hometown, age, and occupation) collected during the study to be used in the videos.

I give permission for my face to be shown in the videos.

I give permission for this video to be published on public platforms including: CERES visitors app, CERES YouTube channel, Climate Stories Project, and Worcester Polytechnic Institute.

By signing below, I acknowledge that I have read and understand the explanation provided to me. I have had all of my questions answered to my satisfaction and consent to be a participant in the study described above. I am also entitled to a copy of this agreement.

Participant Signature

14 March 2019
Date

ARFIYADHUL QOLBI
Participant Name (please print)

Investigator Signature

14/03/2019
Date

WPI

Informed Consent Agreement for Participation in
Ethnographic Film Study of Indonesian Culture and Climate

Investigators: Tahvorn George, Molly O'Connor, Jarod Romankiw, Michelle Zhang

Email Contact: gr-ceres-d19@wpi.edu

Sponsor: CERES Community Environment Park

You are being asked to participate in a research study. Before you agree, however, you must be fully informed about the purpose of the study, the procedures to be followed, and any benefits, risks or discomfort that you may experience as a result of your participation. This form presents information about the study so that you may make a fully informed decision regarding your participation.

Purpose of the study

The purpose of this study is to enrich the learning experience of visitors at CERES environmental park by producing cultural “climate stories” of Indonesians living in Melbourne through a series of ethnographic interview-style videos.

Procedure to be followed

The participant will be required to complete approximately a 30-minute interview with the investigators to share their stories about their life in Indonesia. The interview will be recorded, and the footage may be used to create videos that document their experiences in relation to climate change. The participant will be contacted when videos are complete to ask for their approval of accuracy and appropriate depiction of both the culture and participant. Once the participant has reviewed and approved the videos, they will be integrated into the Indonesian cultural village experience at CERES and other platforms including: YouTube, Climate Stories Project, and WPI.

Risk to study participants

Some questions may evoke memories that may bring discomfort to the participant. The participant has the right to decline any question and request to move on to a new topic of discussion.

Benefits to research participants and others

This project will benefit CERES in its expansion of its Indonesian cultural village exhibit and in its ability to teach the community about the impact of climate change on life in Indonesia. It will also benefit those of the communities being interviewed, as it will provide a platform for them to share their stories.

Record keeping and confidentiality

The recordings from this study will only be available to the staff at CERES and to the group conducting this project unless given permission to do otherwise. Records of your participation in this study will be held confidential so far as permitted by law. However, the study investigators, the sponsor or its designee and, under certain circumstances, the Worcester Polytechnic Institute Institutional Review Board (WPI IRB) have the right to inspect and have access to confidential data that identify you by name.

Compensation and treatment in the event of injury

We do not believe that participation in this project will involve risk of injury or harm, but if something of that nature does occur, we will not be held liable for such injury or harm. You do not give up any of your legal rights by signing this statement.

Your participation in this research is voluntary

Your refusal to participate will not result in any penalty to you or any loss of benefits to which you may otherwise be entitled. You may decide to stop participating in the research at any time. The project investigators retain the right to cancel or postpone the experimental procedures at any time they see fit.

Initial each statement you agree with:

____ I give permission for my name and other personal information (including hometown, age, and occupation) collected during the study to be used in the videos.

____ I give permission for my face to be shown in the videos.

____ I give permission for this video to be published on public platforms including: CERES visitors app, CERES YouTube channel, Climate Stories Project, and Worcester Polytechnic Institute.

By signing below, I acknowledge that I have read and understand the explanation provided to me. I have had all of my questions answered to my satisfaction and consent to be a participant in the study described above. I am also entitled to a copy of this agreement.

Participant Signature

14th MARCH 2019

Date

DAREL KAMIL

Participant Name (please print)

Investigator Signature

14/03/2019

Date

WPI

Informed Consent Agreement for Participation in Ethnographic Film Study of Indonesian Culture and Climate

Investigators: Tahvorn George, Molly O'Connor, Jarod Romankiw, Michelle Zhang

Email Contact: gr-ceres-d19@wpi.edu

Sponsor: CERES Community Environment Park

You are being asked to participate in a research study. Before you agree, however, you must be fully informed about the purpose of the study, the procedures to be followed, and any benefits, risks or discomfort that you may experience as a result of your participation. This form presents information about the study so that you may make a fully informed decision regarding your participation.

Purpose of the study

The purpose of this study is to enrich the learning experience of visitors at CERES environmental park by producing cultural "climate stories" of Indonesians living in Melbourne through a series of ethnographic interview-style videos.

Procedure to be followed

The participant will be required to complete approximately a 30-minute interview with the investigators to share their stories about their life in Indonesia. The interview will be recorded, and the footage may be used to create videos that document their experiences in relation to climate change. The participant will be contacted when videos are complete to ask for their approval of accuracy and appropriate depiction of both the culture and participant. Once the participant has reviewed and approved the videos, they will be integrated into the Indonesian cultural village experience at CERES and other platforms including: YouTube, Climate Stories Project, and WPI.

Risk to study participants

Some questions may evoke memories that may bring discomfort to the participant. The participant has the right to decline any question and request to move on to a new topic of discussion.

Benefits to research participants and others

This project will benefit CERES in its expansion of its Indonesian cultural village exhibit and in its ability to teach the community about the impact of climate change on life in Indonesia. It will also benefit those of the communities being interviewed, as it will provide a platform for them to share their stories.

Record keeping and confidentiality

The recordings from this study will only be available to the staff at CERES and to the group conducting this project unless given permission to do otherwise. Records of your participation in this study will be held confidential so far as permitted by law. However, the study investigators, the sponsor or its designee and, under certain circumstances, the Worcester Polytechnic Institute Institutional Review Board (WPI IRB) have the right to inspect and have access to confidential data that identify you by name.

Compensation and treatment in the event of injury

We do not believe that participation in this project will involve risk of injury or harm, but if something of that nature does occur, we will not be held liable for such injury or harm. You do not give up any of your legal rights by signing this statement.

Your participation in this research is voluntary

Your refusal to participate will not result in any penalty to you or any loss of benefits to which you may otherwise be entitled. You may decide to stop participating in the research at any time. The project investigators retain the right to cancel or postpone the experimental procedures at any time they see fit.

Initial each statement you agree with:

I give permission for my name and other personal information (including hometown, age, and occupation) collected during the study to be used in the videos.

I give permission for my face to be shown in the videos.

I give permission for this video to be published on public platforms including: CERES visitors app, CERES YouTube channel, Climate Stories Project, and Worcester Polytechnic Institute.

By signing below, I acknowledge that I have read and understand the explanation provided to me. I have had all of my questions answered to my satisfaction and consent to be a participant in the study described above. I am also entitled to a copy of this agreement.

Participant Signature

14 March 2019

Date

ANDI KURNIA UTAMA FARASITA

Participant Name (please print)

Investigator Signature

14/03/2019

Date

WPI

Informed Consent Agreement for Participation in Ethnographic Film Study of Indonesian Culture and Climate

Investigators: Tahvorn George, Molly O'Connor, Jarod Romankiw, Michelle Zhang

Email Contact: gr-ceres-d19@wpi.edu

Sponsor: CERES Community Environment Park

You are being asked to participate in a research study. Before you agree, however, you must be fully informed about the purpose of the study, the procedures to be followed, and any benefits, risks or discomfort that you may experience as a result of your participation. This form presents information about the study so that you may make a fully informed decision regarding your participation.

Purpose of the study

The purpose of this study is to enrich the learning experience of visitors at CERES environmental park by producing cultural “climate stories” of Indonesians living in Melbourne through a series of ethnographic interview-style videos.

Procedure to be followed

The participant will be required to complete approximately a 30-minute interview with the investigators to share their stories about their life in Indonesia. The interview will be recorded, and the footage may be used to create videos that document their experiences in relation to climate change. The participant will be contacted when videos are complete to ask for their approval of accuracy and appropriate depiction of both the culture and participant. Once the participant has reviewed and approved the videos, they will be integrated into the Indonesian cultural village experience at CERES and other platforms including: YouTube, Climate Stories Project, and WPI.

Risk to study participants

Some questions may evoke memories that may bring discomfort to the participant. The participant has the right to decline any question and request to move on to a new topic of discussion.

Benefits to research participants and others

This project will benefit CERES in its expansion of its Indonesian cultural village exhibit and in its ability to teach the community about the impact of climate change on life in Indonesia. It will also benefit those of the communities being interviewed, as it will provide a platform for them to share their stories.

Record keeping and confidentiality

The recordings from this study will only be available to the staff at CERES and to the group conducting this project unless given permission to do otherwise. Records of your participation in this study will be held confidential so far as permitted by law. However, the study investigators, the sponsor or its designee and, under certain circumstances, the Worcester Polytechnic Institute Institutional Review Board (WPI IRB) have the right to inspect and have access to confidential data that identify you by name.

Compensation and treatment in the event of injury

We do not believe that participation in this project will involve risk of injury or harm, but if something of that nature does occur, we will not be held liable for such injury or harm. You do not give up any of your legal rights by signing this statement.

Your participation in this research is voluntary

Your refusal to participate will not result in any penalty to you or any loss of benefits to which you may otherwise be entitled. You may decide to stop participating in the research at any time. The project investigators retain the right to cancel or postpone the experimental procedures at any time they see fit.

Initial each statement you agree with:

JA I give permission for my name and other personal information (including hometown, age, and occupation) collected during the study to be used in the videos.

JA I give permission for my face to be shown in the videos.

JA I give permission for this video to be published on public platforms including: CERES visitors app, CERES YouTube channel, Climate Stories Project, and Worcester Polytechnic Institute.

By signing below, I acknowledge that I have read and understand the explanation provided to me. I have had all of my questions answered to my satisfaction and consent to be a participant in the study described above. I am also entitled to a copy of this agreement.

JA

Participant Signature

14 March 2019

Date

ARIF UTOMO

Participant Name (please print)

[Signature]

Investigator Signature

14/03/2019

Date

WPI

Informed Consent Agreement for Participation in Ethnographic Film Study of Indonesian Culture and Climate

Investigators: Tahvorn George, Molly O'Connor, Jarod Romankiw, Michelle Zhang

Email Contact: gr-ceres-d19@wpi.edu

Sponsor: CERES Community Environment Park

You are being asked to participate in a research study. Before you agree, however, you must be fully informed about the purpose of the study, the procedures to be followed, and any benefits, risks or discomfort that you may experience as a result of your participation. This form presents information about the study so that you may make a fully informed decision regarding your participation.

Purpose of the study

The purpose of this study is to enrich the learning experience of visitors at CERES environmental park by producing cultural “climate stories” of Indonesians living in Melbourne through a series of ethnographic interview-style videos.

Procedure to be followed

The participant will be required to complete approximately a 30-minute interview with the investigators to share their stories about their life in Indonesia. The interview will be recorded, and the footage may be used to create videos that document their experiences in relation to climate change. The participant will be contacted when videos are complete to ask for their approval of accuracy and appropriate depiction of both the culture and participant. Once the participant has reviewed and approved the videos, they will be integrated into the Indonesian cultural village experience at CERES and other platforms including: YouTube, Climate Stories Project, and WPI.

Risk to study participants

Some questions may evoke memories that may bring discomfort to the participant. The participant has the right to decline any question and request to move on to a new topic of discussion.

Benefits to research participants and others

This project will benefit CERES in its expansion of its Indonesian cultural village exhibit and in its ability to teach the community about the impact of climate change on life in Indonesia. It will also benefit those of the communities being interviewed, as it will provide a platform for them to share their stories.

Record keeping and confidentiality

The recordings from this study will only be available to the staff at CERES and to the group conducting this project unless given permission to do otherwise. Records of your participation in this study will be held confidential so far as permitted by law. However, the study investigators, the sponsor or its designee and, under certain circumstances, the Worcester Polytechnic Institute Institutional Review Board (WPI IRB) have the right to inspect and have access to confidential data that identify you by name.

Compensation and treatment in the event of injury

We do not believe that participation in this project will involve risk of injury or harm, but if something of that nature does occur, we will not be held liable for such injury or harm. You do not give up any of your legal rights by signing this statement.

Your participation in this research is voluntary

Your refusal to participate will not result in any penalty to you or any loss of benefits to which you may otherwise be entitled. You may decide to stop participating in the research at any time. The project investigators retain the right to cancel or postpone the experimental procedures at any time they see fit.

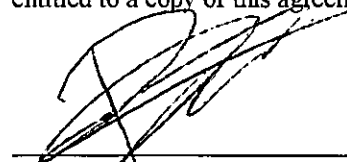

Initial each statement you agree with:

I give permission for my name and other personal information (including hometown, age, and occupation) collected during the study to be used in the videos.

I give permission for my face to be shown in the videos.

I give permission for this video to be published on public platforms including: CERES visitors app, CERES YouTube channel, Climate Stories Project, and Worcester Polytechnic Institute.

By signing below, I acknowledge that I have read and understand the explanation provided to me. I have had all of my questions answered to my satisfaction and consent to be a participant in the study described above. I am also entitled to a copy of this agreement.

Participant Signature

14/03/2019
Date

BRAMANTYO PUTRA
Participant Name (please print)

Investigator Signature

14/03/2019
Date

17a

WPI

Informed Consent Agreement for Participation in Ethnographic Film Study of Indonesian Culture and Climate

Investigators: Tahvorn George, Molly O'Connor, Jarod Romankiw, Michelle Zhang

Email Contact: gr-ceres-d19@wpi.edu

Sponsor: CERES Community Environment Park

You are being asked to participate in a research study. Before you agree, however, you must be fully informed about the purpose of the study, the procedures to be followed, and any benefits, risks or discomfort that you may experience as a result of your participation. This form presents information about the study so that you may make a fully informed decision regarding your participation.

Purpose of the study

The purpose of this study is to enrich the learning experience of visitors at CERES environmental park by producing cultural "climate stories" of Indonesians living in Melbourne through a series of ethnographic interview-style videos.

Procedure to be followed

The participant will be required to complete approximately a 30-minute interview with the investigators to share their stories about their life in Indonesia. The interview will be recorded, and the footage may be used to create videos that document their experiences in relation to climate change. The participant will be contacted when videos are complete to ask for their approval of accuracy and appropriate depiction of both the culture and participant. Once the participant has reviewed and approved the videos, they will be integrated into the Indonesian cultural village experience at CERES and other platforms including: YouTube, Climate Stories Project, and WPI.

Risk to study participants

Some questions may evoke memories that may bring discomfort to the participant. The participant has the right to decline any question and request to move on to a new topic of discussion.

Benefits to research participants and others

This project will benefit CERES in its expansion of its Indonesian cultural village exhibit and in its ability to teach the community about the impact of climate change on life in Indonesia. It will also benefit those of the communities being interviewed, as it will provide a platform for them to share their stories.

Record keeping and confidentiality

The recordings from this study will only be available to the staff at CERES and to the group conducting this project unless given permission to do otherwise. Records of your participation in this study will be held confidential so far as permitted by law. However, the study investigators, the sponsor or its designee and, under certain circumstances,

the Worcester Polytechnic Institute Institutional Review Board (WPI IRB) have the right to inspect and have access to confidential data that identify you by name.

Compensation and treatment in the event of injury

We do not believe that participation in this project will involve risk of injury or harm, but if something of that nature does occur, we will not be held liable for such injury or harm. You do not give up any of your legal rights by signing this statement.

For more information about this research or about the rights of research participants, or in case of research-related injury, contact:

If more information about this project is required, please contact the investigators with the contact information on the first page of this document. In addition, if further communication is needed, the IRB Chair at WPI (Professor Kent Rissmiller, Tel. 508-831-5019, Email: kjr@wpi.edu) and the Human Protection Administrator (Gabriel Johnson, Tel. 508-831-4989, Email: gjohnson@wpi.edu) can aid in any more information related to this study.

Your participation in this research is voluntary

Your refusal to participate will not result in any penalty to you or any loss of benefits to which you may otherwise be entitled. You may decide to stop participating in the research at any time. The project investigators retain the right to cancel or postpone the experimental procedures at any time they see fit.

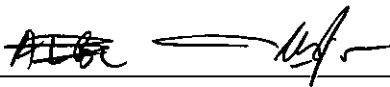

Initial each statement you agree with:

I give permission for my name and other personal information (including hometown, age, and occupation) collected during the study to be used in the videos.

I give permission for my face to be shown in the videos.

I give permission for this video to be published on public platforms including: CERES visitors app, CERES YouTube channel, Climate Stories Project, and Worcester Polytechnic Institute.

By signing below, I acknowledge that I have read and understand the explanation provided to me. I have had all of my questions answered to my satisfaction and consent to be a participant in the study described above. I am also entitled to a copy of this agreement.

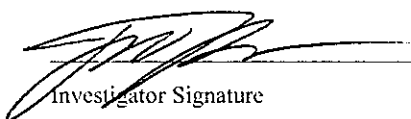

Participant Signature

15/3/19

Date

ALBERT ABDI

Participant Name (please print)

Investigator Signature

15/3/19

Date

WPI

Informed Consent Agreement for Participation in Ethnographic Film Study of Indonesian Culture and Climate

Investigators: Tahvorn George, Molly O'Connor, Jarod Romankiw, Michelle Zhang

Email Contact: gr-ceres-d19@wpi.edu

Sponsor: CERES Community Environment Park

You are being asked to participate in a research study. Before you agree, however, you must be fully informed about the purpose of the study, the procedures to be followed, and any benefits, risks or discomfort that you may experience as a result of your participation. This form presents information about the study so that you may make a fully informed decision regarding your participation.

Purpose of the study

The purpose of this study is to enrich the learning experience of visitors at CERES environmental park by producing cultural “climate stories” of Indonesians living in Melbourne through a series of ethnographic interview-style videos.

Procedure to be followed

The participant will be required to complete approximately a 30-minute interview with the investigators to share their stories about their life in Indonesia. The interview will be recorded, and the footage may be used to create videos that document their experiences in relation to climate change. The participant will be contacted when videos are complete to ask for their approval of accuracy and appropriate depiction of both the culture and participant. Once the participant has reviewed and approved the videos, they will be integrated into the Indonesian cultural village experience at CERES and other platforms including: YouTube, Climate Stories Project, and WPI.

Risk to study participants

Some questions may evoke memories that may bring discomfort to the participant. The participant has the right to decline any question and request to move on to a new topic of discussion.

Benefits to research participants and others

This project will benefit CERES in its expansion of its Indonesian cultural village exhibit and in its ability to teach the community about the impact of climate change on life in Indonesia. It will also benefit those of the communities being interviewed, as it will provide a platform for them to share their stories.

Record keeping and confidentiality

The recordings from this study will only be available to the staff at CERES and to the group conducting this project unless given permission to do otherwise. Records of your participation in this study will be held confidential so far as permitted by law. However, the study investigators, the sponsor or its designee and, under certain circumstances,

the Worcester Polytechnic Institute Institutional Review Board (WPI IRB) have the right to inspect and have access to confidential data that identify you by name.

Compensation and treatment in the event of injury

We do not believe that participation in this project will involve risk of injury or harm, but if something of that nature does occur, we will not be held liable for such injury or harm. You do not give up any of your legal rights by signing this statement.

For more information about this research or about the rights of research participants, or in case of research-related injury, contact: If more information about this project is required, please contact the investigators with the contact information on the first page of this document. In addition, if further communication is needed, the IRB Chair at WPI (Professor Kent Rissmiller, Tel. 508-831-5019, Email: kjr@wpi.edu) and the Human Protection Administrator (Gabriel Johnson, Tel. 508-831-4989, Email: gjohnson@wpi.edu) can aid in any more information related to this study.

Your participation in this research is voluntary

Your refusal to participate will not result in any penalty to you or any loss of benefits to which you may otherwise be entitled. You may decide to stop participating in the research at any time. The project investigators retain the right to cancel or postpone the experimental procedures at any time they see fit.

Initial each statement you agree with:

 JS I give permission for my name and other personal information (including hometown, age, and occupation) collected during the study to be used in the videos.

 JS I give permission for my face to be shown in the videos.

 JS I give permission for this video to be published on public platforms including: CERES visitors app, CERES YouTube channel, Climate Stories Project, and Worcester Polytechnic Institute.

By signing below. I acknowledge that I have read and understand the explanation provided to me. I have had all of my questions answered to my satisfaction and consent to be a participant in the study described above. I am also entitled to a copy of this agreement.

 Prima J. Sastrawirna
Participant Signature

 16 March 2019
Date

 Prima J. Sastrawirna
Participant Name (please print)

 [Signature]
Investigator Signature

 16/03/2019
Date

WPI

Informed Consent Agreement for Participation in Ethnographic Film Study of Indonesian Culture and Climate

Investigators: Tahvorn George, Molly O'Connor, Jarod Romankiw, Michelle Zhang

Email Contact: gr-ceres-d19@wpi.edu

Sponsor: CERES Community Environment Park

You are being asked to participate in a research study. Before you agree, however, you must be fully informed about the purpose of the study, the procedures to be followed, and any benefits, risks or discomfort that you may experience as a result of your participation. This form presents information about the study so that you may make a fully informed decision regarding your participation.

Purpose of the study

The purpose of this study is to enrich the learning experience of visitors at CERES environmental park by producing cultural “climate stories” of Indonesians living in Melbourne through a series of ethnographic interview-style videos.

Procedure to be followed

The participant will be required to complete approximately a 30-minute interview with the investigators to share their stories about their life in Indonesia. The interview will be recorded, and the footage may be used to create videos that document their experiences in relation to climate change. The participant will be contacted when videos are complete to ask for their approval of accuracy and appropriate depiction of both the culture and participant. Once the participant has reviewed and approved the videos, they will be integrated into the Indonesian cultural village experience at CERES and other platforms including: YouTube, Climate Stories Project, and WPI.

Risk to study participants

Some questions may evoke memories that may bring discomfort to the participant. The participant has the right to decline any question and request to move on to a new topic of discussion.

Benefits to research participants and others

This project will benefit CERES in its expansion of its Indonesian cultural village exhibit and in its ability to teach the community about the impact of climate change on life in Indonesia. It will also benefit those of the communities being interviewed, as it will provide a platform for them to share their stories.

Record keeping and confidentiality

The recordings from this study will only be available to the staff at CERES and to the group conducting this project unless given permission to do otherwise. Records of your participation in this study will be held confidential so far as permitted by law. However, the study investigators, the sponsor or its designee and, under certain circumstances,

the Worcester Polytechnic Institute Institutional Review Board (WPI IRB) have the right to inspect and have access to confidential data that identify you by name.

Compensation and treatment in the event of injury

We do not believe that participation in this project will involve risk of injury or harm, but if something of that nature does occur, we will not be held liable for such injury or harm. You do not give up any of your legal rights by signing this statement.

For more information about this research or about the rights of research participants, or in case of research-related injury, contact:

If more information about this project is required, please contact the investigators with the contact information on the first page of this document. In addition, if further communication is needed, the IRB Chair at WPI (Professor Kent Rissmiller, Tel. 508-831-5019, Email: kjr@wpi.edu) and the Human Protection Administrator (Gabriel Johnson, Tel. 508-831-4989, Email: gjohnson@wpi.edu) can aid in any more information related to this study.

Your participation in this research is voluntary

Your refusal to participate will not result in any penalty to you or any loss of benefits to which you may otherwise be entitled. You may decide to stop participating in the research at any time. The project investigators retain the right to cancel or postpone the experimental procedures at any time they see fit.

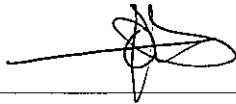

Initial each statement you agree with:

I give permission for my name and other personal information (including hometown, age, and occupation) collected during the study to be used in the videos.

I give permission for my face to be shown in the videos.

I give permission for this video to be published on public platforms including: CERES visitors app, CERES YouTube channel, Climate Stories Project, and Worcester Polytechnic Institute.

By signing below, I acknowledge that I have read and understand the explanation provided to me. I have had all of my questions answered to my satisfaction and consent to be a participant in the study described above. I am also entitled to a copy of this agreement.

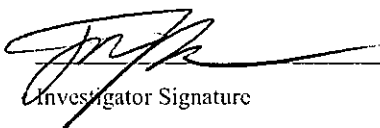

Participant Signature

14/03/2019

Date

Alfonso Swayet

Participant Name (please print)

Investigator Signature

14/03/2019

Date

209

WPI

Informed Consent Agreement for Participation in Ethnographic Film Study of Indonesian Culture and Climate

Investigators: Tahvorn George, Molly O'Connor, Jarod Romankiw, Michelle Zhang

Email Contact: gr-cceres-d19@wpi.edu

Sponsor: CERES Community Environment Park

You are being asked to participate in a research study. Before you agree, however, you must be fully informed about the purpose of the study, the procedures to be followed, and any benefits, risks or discomfort that you may experience as a result of your participation. This form presents information about the study so that you may make a fully informed decision regarding your participation.

Purpose of the study

The purpose of this study is to enrich the learning experience of visitors at CERES environmental park by producing cultural “climate stories” of Indonesians living in Melbourne through a series of ethnographic interview-style videos.

Procedure to be followed

The participant will be required to complete approximately a 30-minute interview with the investigators to share their stories about their life in Indonesia. The interview will be recorded, and the footage may be used to create videos that document their experiences in relation to climate change. The participant will be contacted when videos are complete to ask for their approval of accuracy and appropriate depiction of both the culture and participant. Once the participant has reviewed and approved the videos, they will be integrated into the Indonesian cultural village experience at CERES and other platforms including: YouTube, Climate Stories Project, and WPI.

Risk to study participants

Some questions may evoke memories that may bring discomfort to the participant. The participant has the right to decline any question and request to move on to a new topic of discussion.

Benefits to research participants and others

This project will benefit CERES in its expansion of its Indonesian cultural village exhibit and in its ability to teach the community about the impact of climate change on life in Indonesia. It will also benefit those of the communities being interviewed, as it will provide a platform for them to share their stories.

Record keeping and confidentiality

The recordings from this study will only be available to the staff at CERES and to the group conducting this project unless given permission to do otherwise. Records of your participation in this study will be held confidential so far as permitted by law. However, the study investigators, the sponsor or its designee and, under certain circumstances,

the Worcester Polytechnic Institute Institutional Review Board (WPI IRB) have the right to inspect and have access to confidential data that identify you by name.

Compensation and treatment in the event of injury

We do not believe that participation in this project will involve risk of injury or harm, but if something of that nature does occur, we will not be held liable for such injury or harm. You do not give up any of your legal rights by signing this statement.

For more information about this research or about the rights of research participants, or in case of research-related injury, contact:

If more information about this project is required, please contact the investigators with the contact information on the first page of this document. In addition, if further communication is needed, the IRB Chair at WPI (Professor Kent Rissmiller, Tel. 508-831-5019, Email: kjr@wpi.edu) and the Human Protection Administrator (Gabriel Johnson, Tel. 508-831-4989, Email: gjohnson@wpi.edu) can aid in any more information related to this study.

Your participation in this research is voluntary

Your refusal to participate will not result in any penalty to you or any loss of benefits to which you may otherwise be entitled. You may decide to stop participating in the research at any time. The project investigators retain the right to cancel or postpone the experimental procedures at any time they see fit.

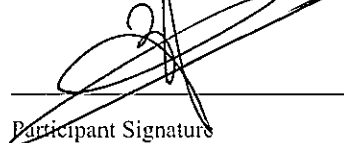

Initial each statement you agree with:

I give permission for my name and other personal information (including hometown, age, and occupation) collected during the study to be used in the videos.

I give permission for my face to be shown in the videos.

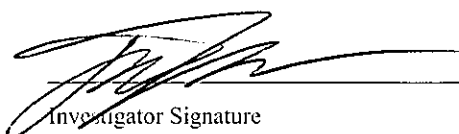

I give permission for this video to be published on public platforms including: CERES visitors app, CERES YouTube channel, Climate Stories Project, and Worcester Polytechnic Institute.

By signing below, I acknowledge that I have read and understand the explanation provided to me. I have had all of my questions answered to my satisfaction and consent to be a participant in the study described above. I am also entitled to a copy of this agreement.

Participant Signature

15/03/2019
Date

Adelia Shakuntala
Participant Name (please print)

Investigator Signature

15/03/2019
Date

Informed Consent Agreement for Participation in
Ethnographic Film Study of Indonesian Culture and Climate

Investigators: Talvorn George, Molly O'Connor, Jarod Romankiw, Michelle Zhang

Email Contact: gr-ceres-d19@wpi.edu

Sponsor: CERES Community Environment Park

You are being asked to participate in a research study. Before you agree, however, you must be fully informed about the purpose of the study, the procedures to be followed, and any benefits, risks or discomfort that you may experience as a result of your participation. This form presents information about the study so that you may make a fully informed decision regarding your participation.

Purpose of the study

The purpose of this study is to enrich the learning experience of visitors at CERES environmental park by producing cultural “climate stories” of Indonesians living in Melbourne through a series of ethnographic interview-style videos.

Procedure to be followed

The participant will be required to complete approximately a 30-minute interview with the investigators to share their stories about their life in Indonesia. The interview will be recorded, and the footage may be used to create videos that document their experiences in relation to climate change. The participant will be contacted when videos are complete to ask for their approval of accuracy and appropriate depiction of both the culture and participant. Once the participant has reviewed and approved the videos, they will be integrated into the Indonesian cultural village experience at CERES and other platforms including: YouTube, Climate Stories Project, and WPI.

Risk to study participants

Some questions may evoke memories that may bring discomfort to the participant. The participant has the right to decline any question and request to move on to a new topic of discussion.

Benefits to research participants and others

This project will benefit CERES in its expansion of its Indonesian cultural village exhibit and in its ability to teach the community about the impact of climate change on life in Indonesia. It will also benefit those of the communities being interviewed, as it will provide a platform for them to share their stories.

Record keeping and confidentiality

The recordings from this study will only be available to the staff at CERES and to the group conducting this project unless given permission to do otherwise. Records of your participation in this study will be held confidential so far as permitted by law. However, the study investigators, the sponsor or its designee and, under certain circumstances,

the Worcester Polytechnic Institute Institutional Review Board (WPI IRB) have the right to inspect and have access to confidential data that identify you by name.

Compensation and treatment in the event of injury

We do not believe that participation in this project will involve risk of injury or harm, but if something of that nature does occur, we will not be held liable for such injury or harm. You do not give up any of your legal rights by signing this statement.

For more information about this research or about the rights of research participants, or in case of research-related injury, contact:

If more information about this project is required, please contact the investigators with the contact information on the first page of this document. In addition, if further communication is needed, the IRB Chair at WPI (Professor Kent Rissmiller, Tel. 508-831-5019, Email: kjr@wpi.edu) and the Human Protection Administrator (Gabriel Johnson, Tel. 508-831-4989, Email: gjohnson@wpi.edu) can aid in any more information related to this study.

Your participation in this research is voluntary

Your refusal to participate will not result in any penalty to you or any loss of benefits to which you may otherwise be entitled. You may decide to stop participating in the research at any time. The project investigators retain the right to cancel or postpone the experimental procedures at any time they see fit.

Initial each statement you agree with:

I give permission for my name and other personal information (including hometown, age, and occupation) collected during the study to be used in the videos.

I give permission for my face to be shown in the videos.

I give permission for this video to be published on public platforms including: CERES visitors app, CERES YouTube channel, Climate Stories Project, and Worcester Polytechnic Institute.

By signing below, I acknowledge that I have read and understand the explanation provided to me. I have had all of my questions answered to my satisfaction and consent to be a participant in the study described above. I am also entitled to a copy of this agreement.

Participant Signature

15/03/19

Date

Lery Butar Butar

Participant Name (please print)

Investigator Signature

15/03/19

Date

WPI

Informed Consent Agreement for Participation in Ethnographic Film Study of Indonesian Culture and Climate

Investigators: Tahvorn George, Molly O'Connor, Jarod Romankiw, Michelle Zhang

Email Contact: gr-ceres-d19@wpi.edu

Sponsor: CERES Community Environment Park

You are being asked to participate in a research study. Before you agree, however, you must be fully informed about the purpose of the study, the procedures to be followed, and any benefits, risks or discomfort that you may experience as a result of your participation. This form presents information about the study so that you may make a fully informed decision regarding your participation.

Purpose of the study

The purpose of this study is to enrich the learning experience of visitors at CERES environmental park by producing cultural “climate stories” of Indonesians living in Melbourne through a series of ethnographic interview-style videos.

Procedure to be followed

The participant will be required to complete approximately a 30-minute interview with the investigators to share their stories about their life in Indonesia. The interview will be recorded, and the footage may be used to create videos that document their experiences in relation to climate change. The participant will be contacted when videos are complete to ask for their approval of accuracy and appropriate depiction of both the culture and participant. Once the participant has reviewed and approved the videos, they will be integrated into the Indonesian cultural village experience at CERES and other platforms including: YouTube, Climate Stories Project, and WPI.

Risk to study participants

Some questions may evoke memories that may bring discomfort to the participant. The participant has the right to decline any question and request to move on to a new topic of discussion.

Benefits to research participants and others

This project will benefit CERES in its expansion of its Indonesian cultural village exhibit and in its ability to teach the community about the impact of climate change on life in Indonesia. It will also benefit those of the communities being interviewed, as it will provide a platform for them to share their stories.

Record keeping and confidentiality

The recordings from this study will only be available to the staff at CERES and to the group conducting this project unless given permission to do otherwise. Records of your participation in this study will be held confidential so far as permitted by law. However, the study investigators, the sponsor or its designee and, under certain circumstances,

the Worcester Polytechnic Institute Institutional Review Board (WPI IRB) have the right to inspect and have access to confidential data that identify you by name.

Compensation and treatment in the event of injury

We do not believe that participation in this project will involve risk of injury or harm, but if something of that nature does occur, we will not be held liable for such injury or harm. You do not give up any of your legal rights by signing this statement.

For more information about this research or about the rights of research participants, or in case of research-related injury, contact: If more information about this project is required, please contact the investigators with the contact information on the first page of this document. In addition, if further communication is needed, the IRB Chair at WPI (Professor Kent Rissmiller, Tel. 508-831-5019, Email: kjr@wpi.edu) and the Human Protection Administrator (Gabriel Johnson, Tel. 508-831-4989, Email: gjohnson@wpi.edu) can aid in any more information related to this study.

Your participation in this research is voluntary

Your refusal to participate will not result in any penalty to you or any loss of benefits to which you may otherwise be entitled. You may decide to stop participating in the research at any time. The project investigators retain the right to cancel or postpone the experimental procedures at any time they see fit.

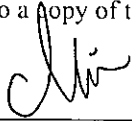

Initial each statement you agree with:

MS I give permission for my name and other personal information (including hometown, age, and occupation) collected during the study to be used in the videos.

MS I give permission for my face to be shown in the videos.

MS I give permission for this video to be published on public platforms including: CERES visitors app, CERES YouTube channel, Climate Stories Project, and Worcester Polytechnic Institute.

By signing below, I acknowledge that I have read and understand the explanation provided to me. I have had all of my questions answered to my satisfaction and consent to be a participant in the study described above. I am also entitled to a copy of this agreement.

Participant Signature

15/03/2018

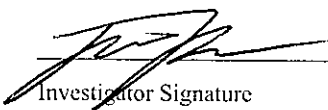

Date

MILLATINA SALMA

Participant Name (please print)

15/03/2018

Date

Investigator Signature

WPI

Informed Consent Agreement for Participation in Ethnographic Film Study of Indonesian Culture and Climate

Investigators: Tahvorn George, Molly O'Connor, Jarod Romankiw, Michelle Zhang

Email Contact: gr-cceres-d19@wpi.edu

Sponsor: CERES Community Environment Park

You are being asked to participate in a research study. Before you agree, however, you must be fully informed about the purpose of the study, the procedures to be followed, and any benefits, risks or discomfort that you may experience as a result of your participation. This form presents information about the study so that you may make a fully informed decision regarding your participation.

Purpose of the study

The purpose of this study is to enrich the learning experience of visitors at CERES environmental park by producing cultural "climate stories" of Indonesians living in Melbourne through a series of ethnographic interview-style videos.

Procedure to be followed

The participant will be required to complete approximately a 30-minute interview with the investigators to share their stories about their life in Indonesia. The interview will be recorded, and the footage may be used to create videos that document their experiences in relation to climate change. The participant will be contacted when videos are complete to ask for their approval of accuracy and appropriate depiction of both the culture and participant. Once the participant has reviewed and approved the videos, they will be integrated into the Indonesian cultural village experience at CERES and other platforms including: YouTube, Climate Stories Project, and WPI.

Risk to study participants

Some questions may evoke memories that may bring discomfort to the participant. The participant has the right to decline any question and request to move on to a new topic of discussion.

Benefits to research participants and others

This project will benefit CERES in its expansion of its Indonesian cultural village exhibit and in its ability to teach the community about the impact of climate change on life in Indonesia. It will also benefit those of the communities being interviewed, as it will provide a platform for them to share their stories.

Record keeping and confidentiality

The recordings from this study will only be available to the staff at CERES and to the group conducting this project unless given permission to do otherwise. Records of your participation in this study will be held confidential so far as permitted by law. However, the study investigators, the sponsor or its designee and, under certain circumstances,

the Worcester Polytechnic Institute Institutional Review Board (WPI IRB) have the right to inspect and have access to confidential data that identify you by name.

Compensation and treatment in the event of injury

We do not believe that participation in this project will involve risk of injury or harm, but if something of that nature does occur, we will not be held liable for such injury or harm. You do not give up any of your legal rights by signing this statement.

For more information about this research or about the rights of research participants, or in case of research-related injury, contact: If more information about this project is required, please contact the investigators with the contact information on the first page of this document. In addition, if further communication is needed, the IRB Chair at WPI (Professor Kent Rissmiller, Tel. 508-831-5019, Email: kjr@wpi.edu) and the Human Protection Administrator (Gabriel Johnson, Tel. 508-831-4989, Email: gjohnson@wpi.edu) can aid in any more information related to this study.

Your participation in this research is voluntary

Your refusal to participate will not result in any penalty to you or any loss of benefits to which you may otherwise be entitled. You may decide to stop participating in the research at any time. The project investigators retain the right to cancel or postpone the experimental procedures at any time they see fit.

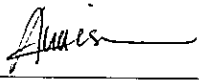

Initial each statement you agree with:

I give permission for my name and other personal information (including hometown, age, and occupation) collected during the study to be used in the videos.

I give permission for my face to be shown in the videos.

I give permission for this video to be published on public platforms including: CERES visitors app, CERES YouTube channel, Climate Stories Project, and Worcester Polytechnic Institute.

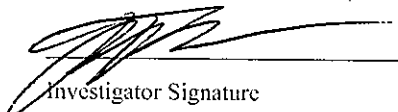

By signing below, I acknowledge that I have read and understand the explanation provided to me. I have had all of my questions answered to my satisfaction and consent to be a participant in the study described above. I am also entitled to a copy of this agreement.

Participant Signature

MARCH 15, 2019
Date

ANNISA DINA ANAHA
Participant Name (please print)

Investigator Signature

15/03/2019
Date

WPI

Informed Consent Agreement for Participation in Ethnographic Film Study of Indonesian Culture and Climate

Investigators: Tahvorn George, Molly O'Connor, Jarod Romankiw, Michelle Zhang

Email Contact: gr-ceres-d19@wpi.edu

Sponsor: CERES Community Environment Park

You are being asked to participate in a research study. Before you agree, however, you must be fully informed about the purpose of the study, the procedures to be followed, and any benefits, risks or discomfort that you may experience as a result of your participation. This form presents information about the study so that you may make a fully informed decision regarding your participation.

Purpose of the study

The purpose of this study is to enrich the learning experience of visitors at CERES environmental park by producing cultural “climate stories” of Indonesians living in Melbourne through a series of ethnographic interview-style videos.

Procedure to be followed

The participant will be required to complete approximately a 30-minute interview with the investigators to share their stories about their life in Indonesia. The interview will be recorded, and the footage may be used to create videos that document their experiences in relation to climate change. The participant will be contacted when videos are complete to ask for their approval of accuracy and appropriate depiction of both the culture and participant. Once the participant has reviewed and approved the videos, they will be integrated into the Indonesian cultural village experience at CERES and other platforms including: YouTube, Climate Stories Project, and WPI.

Risk to study participants

Some questions may evoke memories that may bring discomfort to the participant. The participant has the right to decline any question and request to move on to a new topic of discussion.

Benefits to research participants and others

This project will benefit CERES in its expansion of its Indonesian cultural village exhibit and in its ability to teach the community about the impact of climate change on life in Indonesia. It will also benefit those of the communities being interviewed, as it will provide a platform for them to share their stories.

Record keeping and confidentiality

The recordings from this study will only be available to the staff at CERES and to the group conducting this project unless given permission to do otherwise. Records of your participation in this study will be held confidential so far as permitted by law. However, the study investigators, the sponsor or its designee and, under certain circumstances,

the Worcester Polytechnic Institute Institutional Review Board (WPI IRB) have the right to inspect and have access to confidential data that identify you by name.

Compensation and treatment in the event of injury

We do not believe that participation in this project will involve risk of injury or harm, but if something of that nature does occur, we will not be held liable for such injury or harm. You do not give up any of your legal rights by signing this statement.

For more information about this research or about the rights of research participants, or in case of research-related injury, contact: If more information about this project is required, please contact the investigators with the contact information on the first page of this document. In addition, if further communication is needed, the IRB Chair at WPI (Professor Kent Rissmiller, Tel. 508-831-5019, Email: kjr@wpi.edu) and the Human Protection Administrator (Gabriel Johnson, Tel. 508-831-4989, Email: gjohnson@wpi.edu) can aid in any more information related to this study.

Your participation in this research is voluntary

Your refusal to participate will not result in any penalty to you or any loss of benefits to which you may otherwise be entitled. You may decide to stop participating in the research at any time. The project investigators retain the right to cancel or postpone the experimental procedures at any time they see fit.

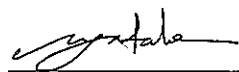

Initial each statement you agree with:

I give permission for my name and other personal information (including hometown, age, and occupation) collected during the study to be used in the videos.

I give permission for my face to be shown in the videos.

I give permission for this video to be published on public platforms including: CERES visitors app, CERES YouTube channel, Climate Stories Project, and Worcester Polytechnic Institute.

By signing below, I acknowledge that I have read and understand the explanation provided to me. I have had all of my questions answered to my satisfaction and consent to be a participant in the study described above. I am also entitled to a copy of this agreement.

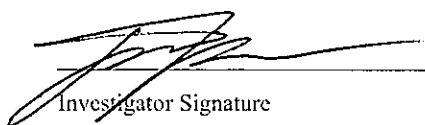

Participant Signature

15/3/19

Date

WINAYA SATASYA

Participant Name (please print)

Investigator Signature

15/03/2019

Date

WPI

Informed Consent Agreement for Participation in Ethnographic Film Study of Indonesian Culture and Climate

Investigators: Tahvorn George, Molly O'Connor, Jarod Romankiw, Michelle Zhang

Email Contact: gr-ceres-d19@wpi.edu

Sponsor: CERES Community Environment Park

You are being asked to participate in a research study. Before you agree, however, you must be fully informed about the purpose of the study, the procedures to be followed, and any benefits, risks or discomfort that you may experience as a result of your participation. This form presents information about the study so that you may make a fully informed decision regarding your participation.

Purpose of the study

The purpose of this study is to enrich the learning experience of visitors at CERES environmental park by producing cultural "climate stories" of Indonesians living in Melbourne through a series of ethnographic interview-style videos.

Procedure to be followed

The participant will be required to complete approximately a 30-minute interview with the investigators to share their stories about their life in Indonesia. The interview will be recorded, and the footage may be used to create videos that document their experiences in relation to climate change. The participant will be contacted when videos are complete to ask for their approval of accuracy and appropriate depiction of both the culture and participant. Once the participant has reviewed and approved the videos, they will be integrated into the Indonesian cultural village experience at CERES and other platforms including: YouTube, Climate Stories Project, and WPI.

Risk to study participants

Some questions may evoke memories that may bring discomfort to the participant. The participant has the right to decline any question and request to move on to a new topic of discussion.

Benefits to research participants and others

This project will benefit CERES in its expansion of its Indonesian cultural village exhibit and in its ability to teach the community about the impact of climate change on life in Indonesia. It will also benefit those of the communities being interviewed, as it will provide a platform for them to share their stories.

Record keeping and confidentiality

The recordings from this study will only be available to the staff at CERES and to the group conducting this project unless given permission to do otherwise. Records of your participation in this study will be held confidential so far as permitted by law. However, the study investigators, the sponsor or its designee and, under certain circumstances, the Worcester Polytechnic Institute Institutional Review Board (WPI IRB) have the right to inspect and have access to confidential data that identify you by name.

Compensation and treatment in the event of injury

We do not believe that participation in this project will involve risk of injury or harm, but if something of that nature does occur, we will not be held liable for such injury or harm. You do not give up any of your legal rights by signing this statement.

Your participation in this research is voluntary

Your refusal to participate will not result in any penalty to you or any loss of benefits to which you may otherwise be entitled. You may decide to stop participating in the research at any time. The project investigators retain the right to cancel or postpone the experimental procedures at any time they see fit.

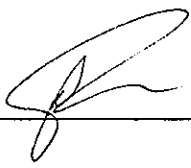

Initial each statement you agree with:

I give permission for my name and other personal information (including hometown, age, and occupation) collected during the study to be used in the videos.

I give permission for my face to be shown in the videos.

I give permission for this video to be published on public platforms including: CERES visitors app, CERES YouTube channel, Climate Stories Project, and Worcester Polytechnic Institute.

By signing below, I acknowledge that I have read and understand the explanation provided to me. I have had all of my questions answered to my satisfaction and consent to be a participant in the study described above. I am also entitled to a copy of this agreement.

Participant Signature

15-03-2019
Date

PATRICK B.N.
Participant Name (please print)

Investigator Signature

15/03/2019
Date

WPI

Informed Consent Agreement for Participation in Ethnographic Film Study of Indonesian Culture and Climate

Investigators: Tahvorn George, Molly O'Connor, Jarod Romankiw, Michelle Zhang

Email Contact: gr-ceres-d19@wpi.edu

Sponsor: CERES Community Environment Park

You are being asked to participate in a research study. Before you agree, however, you must be fully informed about the purpose of the study, the procedures to be followed, and any benefits, risks or discomfort that you may experience as a result of your participation. This form presents information about the study so that you may make a fully informed decision regarding your participation.

Purpose of the study

The purpose of this study is to enrich the learning experience of visitors at CERES environmental park by producing cultural “climate stories” of Indonesians living in Melbourne through a series of ethnographic interview-style videos.

Procedure to be followed

The participant will be required to complete approximately a 30-minute interview with the investigators to share their stories about their life in Indonesia. The interview will be recorded, and the footage may be used to create videos that document their experiences in relation to climate change. The participant will be contacted when videos are complete to ask for their approval of accuracy and appropriate depiction of both the culture and participant. Once the participant has reviewed and approved the videos, they will be integrated into the Indonesian cultural village experience at CERES and other platforms including: YouTube, Climate Stories Project, and WPI.

Risk to study participants

Some questions may evoke memories that may bring discomfort to the participant. The participant has the right to decline any question and request to move on to a new topic of discussion.

Benefits to research participants and others

This project will benefit CERES in its expansion of its Indonesian cultural village exhibit and in its ability to teach the community about the impact of climate change on life in Indonesia. It will also benefit those of the communities being interviewed, as it will provide a platform for them to share their stories.

Record keeping and confidentiality

The recordings from this study will only be available to the staff at CERES and to the group conducting this project unless given permission to do otherwise. Records of your participation in this study will be held confidential so far as permitted by law. However, the study investigators, the sponsor or its designee and, under certain circumstances,

the Worcester Polytechnic Institute Institutional Review Board (WPI IRB) have the right to inspect and have access to confidential data that identify you by name.

Compensation and treatment in the event of injury

We do not believe that participation in this project will involve risk of injury or harm, but if something of that nature does occur, we will not be held liable for such injury or harm. You do not give up any of your legal rights by signing this statement.

For more information about this research or about the rights of research participants, or in case of research-related injury, contact:

If more information about this project is required, please contact the investigators with the contact information on the first page of this document. In addition, if further communication is needed, the IRB Chair at WPI (Professor Kent Rissmiller, Tel. 508-831-5019, Email: kjr@wpi.edu) and the Human Protection Administrator (Gabriel Johnson, Tel. 508-831-4989, Email: gjohnson@wpi.edu) can aid in any more information related to this study.

Your participation in this research is voluntary

Your refusal to participate will not result in any penalty to you or any loss of benefits to which you may otherwise be entitled. You may decide to stop participating in the research at any time. The project investigators retain the right to cancel or postpone the experimental procedures at any time they see fit.

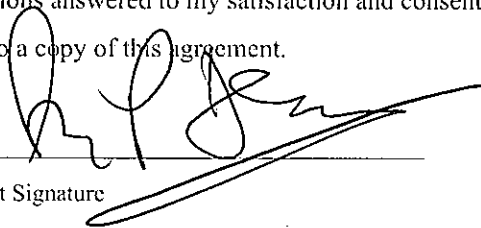

Initial each statement you agree with:

I give permission for my name and other personal information (including hometown, age, and occupation) collected during the study to be used in the videos.

I give permission for my face to be shown in the videos.

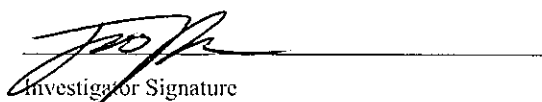

I give permission for this video to be published on public platforms including: CERES visitors app, CERES YouTube channel, Climate Stories Project, and Worcester Polytechnic Institute.

By signing below, I acknowledge that I have read and understand the explanation provided to me. I have had all of my questions answered to my satisfaction and consent to be a participant in the study described above. I am also entitled to a copy of this agreement.

Participant Signature

15 MAR 2019
Date

SRI P. DEAN
Participant Name (please print)

Investigator Signature

15/03/2019
Date

WPI

Informed Consent Agreement for Participation in Ethnographic Film Study of Indonesian Culture and Climate

Investigators: Tahvorn George, Molly O'Connor, Jarod Romankiw, Michelle Zhang

Email Contact: gr-ceres-d19@wpi.edu

Sponsor: CERES Community Environment Park

You are being asked to participate in a research study. Before you agree, however, you must be fully informed about the purpose of the study, the procedures to be followed, and any benefits, risks or discomfort that you may experience as a result of your participation. This form presents information about the study so that you may make a fully informed decision regarding your participation.

Purpose of the study

The purpose of this study is to enrich the learning experience of visitors at CERES environmental park by producing cultural "climate stories" of Indonesians living in Melbourne through a series of ethnographic interview-style videos.

Procedure to be followed

The participant will be required to complete approximately a 30-minute interview with the investigators to share their stories about their life in Indonesia. The interview will be recorded, and the footage may be used to create videos that document their experiences in relation to climate change. The participant will be contacted when videos are complete to ask for their approval of accuracy and appropriate depiction of both the culture and participant. Once the participant has reviewed and approved the videos, they will be integrated into the Indonesian cultural village experience at CERES and other platforms including: YouTube, Climate Stories Project, and WPI.

Risk to study participants

Some questions may evoke memories that may bring discomfort to the participant. The participant has the right to decline any question and request to move on to a new topic of discussion.

Benefits to research participants and others

This project will benefit CERES in its expansion of its Indonesian cultural village exhibit and in its ability to teach the community about the impact of climate change on life in Indonesia. It will also benefit those of the communities being interviewed, as it will provide a platform for them to share their stories.

Record keeping and confidentiality

The recordings from this study will only be available to the staff at CERES and to the group conducting this project unless given permission to do otherwise. Records of your participation in this study will be held confidential so far as permitted by law. However, the study investigators, the sponsor or its designee and, under certain circumstances, the Worcester Polytechnic Institute Institutional Review Board (WPI IRB) have the right to inspect and have access to confidential data that identify you by name.

Compensation and treatment in the event of injury

We do not believe that participation in this project will involve risk of injury or harm, but if something of that nature does occur, we will not be held liable for such injury or harm. You do not give up any of your legal rights by signing this statement.

Your participation in this research is voluntary

Your refusal to participate will not result in any penalty to you or any loss of benefits to which you may otherwise be entitled. You may decide to stop participating in the research at any time. The project investigators retain the right to cancel or postpone the experimental procedures at any time they see fit.

Initial each statement you agree with:

I give permission for my name and other personal information (including hometown, age, and occupation) collected during the study to be used in the videos.

I give permission for my face to be shown in the videos.

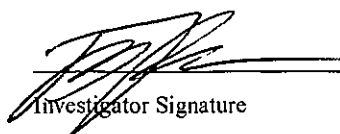

I give permission for this video to be published on public platforms including: CERES visitors app, CERES YouTube channel, Climate Stories Project, and Worcester Polytechnic Institute.

By signing below, I acknowledge that I have read and understand the explanation provided to me. I have had all of my questions answered to my satisfaction and consent to be a participant in the study described above. I am also entitled to a copy of this agreement.

Nike Martha
Participant Signature

18 March 2019
Date

Participant Name (please print)

Investigator Signature

18/03/2019
Date

WPI

Informed Consent Agreement for Participation in Ethnographic Film Study of Indonesian Culture and Climate

Investigators: Tahvorn George, Molly O'Connor, Jarod Romankiw, Michelle Zhang

Email Contact: gr-cceres-d19@wpi.edu

Sponsor: CERES Community Environment Park

You are being asked to participate in a research study. Before you agree, however, you must be fully informed about the purpose of the study, the procedures to be followed, and any benefits, risks or discomfort that you may experience as a result of your participation. This form presents information about the study so that you may make a fully informed decision regarding your participation.

Purpose of the study

The purpose of this study is to enrich the learning experience of visitors at CERES environmental park by producing cultural “climate stories” of Indonesians living in Melbourne through a series of ethnographic interview-style videos.

Procedure to be followed

The participant will be required to complete approximately a 30-minute interview with the investigators to share their stories about their life in Indonesia. The interview will be recorded, and the footage may be used to create videos that document their experiences in relation to climate change. The participant will be contacted when videos are complete to ask for their approval of accuracy and appropriate depiction of both the culture and participant. Once the participant has reviewed and approved the videos, they will be integrated into the Indonesian cultural village experience at CERES and other platforms including: YouTube, Climate Stories Project, and WPI.

Risk to study participants

Some questions may evoke memories that may bring discomfort to the participant. The participant has the right to decline any question and request to move on to a new topic of discussion.

Benefits to research participants and others

This project will benefit CERES in its expansion of its Indonesian cultural village exhibit and in its ability to teach the community about the impact of climate change on life in Indonesia. It will also benefit those of the communities being interviewed, as it will provide a platform for them to share their stories.

Record keeping and confidentiality

The recordings from this study will only be available to the staff at CERES and to the group conducting this project unless given permission to do otherwise. Records of your participation in this study will be held confidential so far as permitted by law. However, the study investigators, the sponsor or its designee and, under certain circumstances,

the Worcester Polytechnic Institute Institutional Review Board (WPI IRB) have the right to inspect and have access to confidential data that identify you by name.

Compensation and treatment in the event of injury

We do not believe that participation in this project will involve risk of injury or harm, but if something of that nature does occur, we will not be held liable for such injury or harm. You do not give up any of your legal rights by signing this statement.

For more information about this research or about the rights of research participants, or in case of research-related injury, contact:

If more information about this project is required, please contact the investigators with the contact information on the first page of this document. In addition, if further communication is needed, the IRB Chair at WPI (Professor Kent Rissmiller, Tel. 508-831-5019, Email: kjr@wpi.edu) and the Human Protection Administrator (Gabriel Johnson, Tel. 508-831-4989, Email: gjohnson@wpi.edu) can aid in any more information related to this study.

Your participation in this research is voluntary

Your refusal to participate will not result in any penalty to you or any loss of benefits to which you may otherwise be entitled. You may decide to stop participating in the research at any time. The project investigators retain the right to cancel or postpone the experimental procedures at any time they see fit.

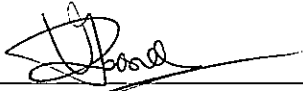

Initial each statement you agree with:

I give permission for my name and other personal information (including hometown, age, and occupation) collected during the study to be used in the videos.

I give permission for my face to be shown in the videos.

I give permission for this video to be published on public platforms including: CERES visitors app, CERES YouTube channel, Climate Stories Project, and Worcester Polytechnic Institute.

By signing below, I acknowledge that I have read and understand the explanation provided to me. I have had all of my questions answered to my satisfaction and consent to be a participant in the study described above. I am also entitled to a copy of this agreement.

Participant Signature

18/3/19
Date

SITI LAILAN VONNY RASIDA
Participant Name (please print)

Investigator Signature

18/03/19
Date

WPI

Informed Consent Agreement for Participation in Ethnographic Film Study of Indonesian Culture and Climate

Investigators: Tahvorn George, Molly O'Connor, Jarod Romankiw, Michelle Zhang

Email Contact: gr-ceres-d19@wpi.edu

Sponsor: CERES Community Environment Park

You are being asked to participate in a research study. Before you agree, however, you must be fully informed about the purpose of the study, the procedures to be followed, and any benefits, risks or discomfort that you may experience as a result of your participation. This form presents information about the study so that you may make a fully informed decision regarding your participation.

Purpose of the study

The purpose of this study is to enrich the learning experience of visitors at CERES environmental park by producing cultural “climate stories” of Indonesians living in Melbourne through a series of ethnographic interview-style videos.

Procedure to be followed

The participant will be required to complete approximately a 30-minute interview with the investigators to share their stories about their life in Indonesia. The interview will be recorded, and the footage may be used to create videos that document their experiences in relation to climate change. The participant will be contacted when videos are complete to ask for their approval of accuracy and appropriate depiction of both the culture and participant. Once the participant has reviewed and approved the videos, they will be integrated into the Indonesian cultural village experience at CERES and other platforms including: YouTube, Climate Stories Project, and WPI.

Risk to study participants

Some questions may evoke memories that may bring discomfort to the participant. The participant has the right to decline any question and request to move on to a new topic of discussion.

Benefits to research participants and others

This project will benefit CERES in its expansion of its Indonesian cultural village exhibit and in its ability to teach the community about the impact of climate change on life in Indonesia. It will also benefit those of the communities being interviewed, as it will provide a platform for them to share their stories.

Record keeping and confidentiality

The recordings from this study will only be available to the staff at CERES and to the group conducting this project unless given permission to do otherwise. Records of your participation in this study will be held confidential so far as permitted by law. However, the study investigators, the sponsor or its designee and, under certain circumstances,

the Worcester Polytechnic Institute Institutional Review Board (WPI IRB) have the right to inspect and have access to confidential data that identify you by name.

Compensation and treatment in the event of injury

We do not believe that participation in this project will involve risk of injury or harm, but if something of that nature does occur, we will not be held liable for such injury or harm. You do not give up any of your legal rights by signing this statement.

For more information about this research or about the rights of research participants, or in case of research-related injury, contact:

If more information about this project is required, please contact the investigators with the contact information on the first page of this document. In addition, if further communication is needed, the IRB Chair at WPI (Professor Kent Rissmiller, Tel. 508-831-5019, Email: kjr@wpi.edu) and the Human Protection Administrator (Gabriel Johnson, Tel. 508-831-4989, Email: gjohnson@wpi.edu) can aid in any more information related to this study.

Your participation in this research is voluntary

Your refusal to participate will not result in any penalty to you or any loss of benefits to which you may otherwise be entitled. You may decide to stop participating in the research at any time. The project investigators retain the right to cancel or postpone the experimental procedures at any time they see fit.

Initial each statement you agree with:

BT I give permission for my name and other personal information (including hometown, age, and occupation) collected during the study to be used in the videos.

BT I give permission for my face to be shown in the videos.

BT I give permission for this video to be published on public platforms including: CERES visitors app, CERES YouTube channel, Climate Stories Project, and Worcester Polytechnic Institute.

By signing below, I acknowledge that I have read and understand the explanation provided to me. I have had all of my questions answered to my satisfaction and consent to be a participant in the study described above. I am also entitled to a copy of this agreement.

BT

Participant Signature

18/3/2019

Date

Benjamin Tanone

Participant Name (please print)

[Signature]

Investigator Signature

18/3/2019

Date

WPI

Informed Consent Agreement for Participation in Ethnographic Film Study of Indonesian Culture and Climate

Investigators: Tahvorn George, Molly O'Connor, Jarod Romankiw, Michelle Zhang

Email Contact: gr-ceres-d19@wpi.edu

Sponsor: CERES Community Environment Park

You are being asked to participate in a research study. Before you agree, however, you must be fully informed about the purpose of the study, the procedures to be followed, and any benefits, risks or discomfort that you may experience as a result of your participation. This form presents information about the study so that you may make a fully informed decision regarding your participation.

Purpose of the study

The purpose of this study is to enrich the learning experience of visitors at CERES environmental park by producing cultural “climate stories” of Indonesians living in Melbourne through a series of ethnographic interview-style videos.

Procedure to be followed

The participant will be required to complete approximately a 30-minute interview with the investigators to share their stories about their life in Indonesia. The interview will be recorded, and the footage may be used to create videos that document their experiences in relation to climate change. The participant will be contacted when videos are complete to ask for their approval of accuracy and appropriate depiction of both the culture and participant. Once the participant has reviewed and approved the videos, they will be integrated into the Indonesian cultural village experience at CERES and other platforms including: YouTube, Climate Stories Project, and WPI.

Risk to study participants

Some questions may evoke memories that may bring discomfort to the participant. The participant has the right to decline any question and request to move on to a new topic of discussion.

Benefits to research participants and others

This project will benefit CERES in its expansion of its Indonesian cultural village exhibit and in its ability to teach the community about the impact of climate change on life in Indonesia. It will also benefit those of the communities being interviewed, as it will provide a platform for them to share their stories.

Record keeping and confidentiality

The recordings from this study will only be available to the staff at CERES and to the group conducting this project unless given permission to do otherwise. Records of your participation in this study will be held confidential so far as permitted by law. However, the study investigators, the sponsor or its designee and, under certain circumstances,

the Worcester Polytechnic Institute Institutional Review Board (WPI IRB) have the right to inspect and have access to confidential data that identify you by name.

Compensation and treatment in the event of injury

We do not believe that participation in this project will involve risk of injury or harm, but if something of that nature does occur, we will not be held liable for such injury or harm. You do not give up any of your legal rights by signing this statement.

For more information about this research or about the rights of research participants, or in case of research-related injury, contact:

If more information about this project is required, please contact the investigators with the contact information on the first page of this document. In addition, if further communication is needed, the IRB Chair at WPI (Professor Kent Rissmiller, Tel. 508-831-5019, Email: kjr@wpi.edu) and the Human Protection Administrator (Gabriel Johnson, Tel. 508-831-4989, Email: gjohnson@wpi.edu) can aid in any more information related to this study.

Your participation in this research is voluntary

Your refusal to participate will not result in any penalty to you or any loss of benefits to which you may otherwise be entitled. You may decide to stop participating in the research at any time. The project investigators retain the right to cancel or postpone the experimental procedures at any time they see fit.

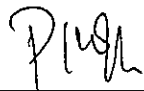

Initial each statement you agree with:

I give permission for my name and other personal information (including hometown, age, and occupation) collected during the study to be used in the videos.

I give permission for my face to be shown in the videos.

I give permission for this video to be published on public platforms including: CERES visitors app, CERES YouTube channel, Climate Stories Project, and Worcester Polytechnic Institute.

By signing below, I acknowledge that I have read and understand the explanation provided to me. I have had all of my questions answered to my satisfaction and consent to be a participant in the study described above. I am also entitled to a copy of this agreement.

Participant Signature

19/03/2019
Date

I GEDE PANDU WIRAWAN
Participant Name (please print)

Investigator Signature

~~19~~ 19/03/2019
Date

WPI

Informed Consent Agreement for Participation in Ethnographic Film Study of Indonesian Culture and Climate

Investigators: Tahvorn George, Molly O'Connor, Jarod Romankiw, Michelle Zhang

Email Contact: gr-ceres-d19@wpi.edu

Sponsor: CERES Community Environment Park

You are being asked to participate in a research study. Before you agree, however, you must be fully informed about the purpose of the study, the procedures to be followed, and any benefits, risks or discomfort that you may experience as a result of your participation. This form presents information about the study so that you may make a fully informed decision regarding your participation.

Purpose of the study

The purpose of this study is to enrich the learning experience of visitors at CERES environmental park by producing cultural “climate stories” of Indonesians living in Melbourne through a series of ethnographic interview-style videos.

Procedure to be followed

The participant will be required to complete approximately a 30-minute interview with the investigators to share their stories about their life in Indonesia. The interview will be recorded, and the footage may be used to create videos that document their experiences in relation to climate change. The participant will be contacted when videos are complete to ask for their approval of accuracy and appropriate depiction of both the culture and participant. Once the participant has reviewed and approved the videos, they will be integrated into the Indonesian cultural village experience at CERES and other platforms including: YouTube, Climate Stories Project, and WPI.

Risk to study participants

Some questions may evoke memories that may bring discomfort to the participant. The participant has the right to decline any question and request to move on to a new topic of discussion.

Benefits to research participants and others

This project will benefit CERES in its expansion of its Indonesian cultural village exhibit and in its ability to teach the community about the impact of climate change on life in Indonesia. It will also benefit those of the communities being interviewed, as it will provide a platform for them to share their stories.

Record keeping and confidentiality

The recordings from this study will only be available to the staff at CERES and to the group conducting this project unless given permission to do otherwise. Records of your participation in this study will be held confidential so far as permitted by law. However, the study investigators, the sponsor or its designee and, under certain circumstances,

the Worcester Polytechnic Institute Institutional Review Board (WPI IRB) have the right to inspect and have access to confidential data that identify you by name.

Compensation and treatment in the event of injury

We do not believe that participation in this project will involve risk of injury or harm, but if something of that nature does occur, we will not be held liable for such injury or harm. You do not give up any of your legal rights by signing this statement.

For more information about this research or about the rights of research participants, or in case of research-related injury, contact:

If more information about this project is required, please contact the investigators with the contact information on the first page of this document. In addition, if further communication is needed, the IRB Chair at WPI (Professor Kent Rissmiller, Tel. 508-831-5019, Email: kjr@wpi.edu) and the Human Protection Administrator (Gabriel Johnson, Tel. 508-831-4989, Email: gjohnson@wpi.edu) can aid in any more information related to this study.

Your participation in this research is voluntary

Your refusal to participate will not result in any penalty to you or any loss of benefits to which you may otherwise be entitled. You may decide to stop participating in the research at any time. The project investigators retain the right to cancel or postpone the experimental procedures at any time they see fit.

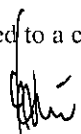

Initial each statement you agree with:

I give permission for my name and other personal information (including hometown, age, and occupation) collected during the study to be used in the videos.

I give permission for my face to be shown in the videos.

I give permission for this video to be published on public platforms including: CERES visitors app, CERES YouTube channel, Climate Stories Project, and Worcester Polytechnic Institute.

By signing below, I acknowledge that I have read and understand the explanation provided to me. I have had all of my questions answered to my satisfaction and consent to be a participant in the study described above. I am also entitled to a copy of this agreement.

Participant Signature

19/3/2019
Date

Ela Nurhayati
Participant Name (please print)

Investigator Signature

19/3/2019
Date

WPI

Informed Consent Agreement for Participation in Ethnographic Film Study of Indonesian Culture and Climate

Investigators: Tahvorn George, Molly O'Connor, Jarod Romankiw, Michelle Zhang

Email Contact: gr-ceres-d19@wpi.edu

Sponsor: CERES Community Environment Park

You are being asked to participate in a research study. Before you agree, however, you must be fully informed about the purpose of the study, the procedures to be followed, and any benefits, risks or discomfort that you may experience as a result of your participation. This form presents information about the study so that you may make a fully informed decision regarding your participation.

Purpose of the study

The purpose of this study is to enrich the learning experience of visitors at CERES environmental park by producing cultural “climate stories” of Indonesians living in Melbourne through a series of ethnographic interview-style videos.

Procedure to be followed

The participant will be required to complete approximately a 30-minute interview with the investigators to share their stories about their life in Indonesia. The interview will be recorded, and the footage may be used to create videos that document their experiences in relation to climate change. The participant will be contacted when videos are complete to ask for their approval of accuracy and appropriate depiction of both the culture and participant. Once the participant has reviewed and approved the videos, they will be integrated into the Indonesian cultural village experience at CERES and other platforms including: YouTube, Climate Stories Project, and WPI.

Risk to study participants

Some questions may evoke memories that may bring discomfort to the participant. The participant has the right to decline any question and request to move on to a new topic of discussion.

Benefits to research participants and others

This project will benefit CERES in its expansion of its Indonesian cultural village exhibit and in its ability to teach the community about the impact of climate change on life in Indonesia. It will also benefit those of the communities being interviewed, as it will provide a platform for them to share their stories.

Record keeping and confidentiality

The recordings from this study will only be available to the staff at CERES and to the group conducting this project unless given permission to do otherwise. Records of your participation in this study will be held confidential so far as permitted by law. However, the study investigators, the sponsor or its designee and, under certain circumstances,

the Worcester Polytechnic Institute Institutional Review Board (WPI IRB) have the right to inspect and have access to confidential data that identify you by name.

Compensation and treatment in the event of injury

We do not believe that participation in this project will involve risk of injury or harm, but if something of that nature does occur, we will not be held liable for such injury or harm. You do not give up any of your legal rights by signing this statement.

For more information about this research or about the rights of research participants, or in case of research-related injury, contact: If more information about this project is required, please contact the investigators with the contact information on the first page of this document. In addition, if further communication is needed, the IRB Chair at WPI (Professor Kent Rissmiller, Tel. 508-831-5019, Email: kjr@wpi.edu) and the Human Protection Administrator (Gabriel Johnson, Tel. 508-831-4989, Email: gjohnson@wpi.edu) can aid in any more information related to this study.

Your participation in this research is voluntary

Your refusal to participate will not result in any penalty to you or any loss of benefits to which you may otherwise be entitled. You may decide to stop participating in the research at any time. The project investigators retain the right to cancel or postpone the experimental procedures at any time they see fit.

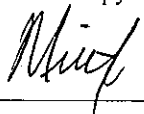

Initial each statement you agree with:

I give permission for my name and other personal information (including hometown, age, and occupation) collected during the study to be used in the videos.

I give permission for my face to be shown in the videos.

I give permission for this video to be published on public platforms including: CERES visitors app, CERES YouTube channel, Climate Stories Project, and Worcester Polytechnic Institute.

By signing below, I acknowledge that I have read and understand the explanation provided to me. I have had all of my questions answered to my satisfaction and consent to be a participant in the study described above. I am also entitled to a copy of this agreement.

Participant Signature

19.03.2019
Date

Miftahul Jannah
Participant Name (please print)

Investigator Signature

19/3/2019
Date

WPI

Informed Consent Agreement for Participation in Ethnographic Film Study of Indonesian Culture and Climate

Investigators: Tahvorn George, Molly O'Connor, Jarod Romankiw, Michelle Zhang

Email Contact: gr-ceres-d19@wpi.edu

Sponsor: CERES Community Environment Park

You are being asked to participate in a research study. Before you agree, however, you must be fully informed about the purpose of the study, the procedures to be followed, and any benefits, risks or discomfort that you may experience as a result of your participation. This form presents information about the study so that you may make a fully informed decision regarding your participation.

Purpose of the study

The purpose of this study is to enrich the learning experience of visitors at CERES environmental park by producing cultural “climate stories” of Indonesians living in Melbourne through a series of ethnographic interview-style videos.

Procedure to be followed

The participant will be required to complete approximately a 30-minute interview with the investigators to share their stories about their life in Indonesia. The interview will be recorded, and the footage may be used to create videos that document their experiences in relation to climate change. The participant will be contacted when videos are complete to ask for their approval of accuracy and appropriate depiction of both the culture and participant. Once the participant has reviewed and approved the videos, they will be integrated into the Indonesian cultural village experience at CERES and other platforms including: YouTube, Climate Stories Project, and WPI.

Risk to study participants

Some questions may evoke memories that may bring discomfort to the participant. The participant has the right to decline any question and request to move on to a new topic of discussion.

Benefits to research participants and others

This project will benefit CERES in its expansion of its Indonesian cultural village exhibit and in its ability to teach the community about the impact of climate change on life in Indonesia. It will also benefit those of the communities being interviewed, as it will provide a platform for them to share their stories.

Record keeping and confidentiality

The recordings from this study will only be available to the staff at CERES and to the group conducting this project unless given permission to do otherwise. Records of your participation in this study will be held confidential so far as permitted by law. However, the study investigators, the sponsor or its designee and, under certain circumstances,

the Worcester Polytechnic Institute Institutional Review Board (WPI IRB) have the right to inspect and have access to confidential data that identify you by name.

Compensation and treatment in the event of injury

We do not believe that participation in this project will involve risk of injury or harm, but if something of that nature does occur, we will not be held liable for such injury or harm. You do not give up any of your legal rights by signing this statement.

For more information about this research or about the rights of research participants, or in case of research-related injury, contact:

If more information about this project is required, please contact the investigators with the contact information on the first page of this document. In addition, if further communication is needed, the IRB Chair at WPI (Professor Kent Rissmiller, Tel. 508-831-5019, Email: kjr@wpi.edu) and the Human Protection Administrator (Gabriel Johnson, Tel. 508-831-4989, Email: gjohnson@wpi.edu) can aid in any more information related to this study.

Your participation in this research is voluntary

Your refusal to participate will not result in any penalty to you or any loss of benefits to which you may otherwise be entitled. You may decide to stop participating in the research at any time. The project investigators retain the right to cancel or postpone the experimental procedures at any time they see fit.

Initial each statement you agree with:

I give permission for my name and other personal information (including hometown, age, and occupation) collected during the study to be used in the videos.

I give permission for my face to be shown in the videos.

I give permission for this video to be published on public platforms including: CERES visitors app, CERES YouTube channel, Climate Stories Project, and Worcester Polytechnic Institute.

By signing below, I acknowledge that I have read and understand the explanation provided to me. I have had all of my questions answered to my satisfaction and consent to be a participant in the study described above. I am also entitled to a copy of this agreement.

Participant Signature

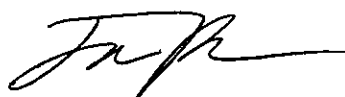

20-Mar-2019
Date

Participant Name (please print)

Toro Joyceistio

Investigator Signature

20/3/2019
Date

WPI

Informed Consent Agreement for Participation in Ethnographic Film Study of Indonesian Culture and Climate

Investigators: Tahvorn George, Molly O'Connor, Jarod Romankiw, Michelle Zhang

Email Contact: gr-ceres-d19@wpi.edu

Sponsor: CERES Community Environment Park

You are being asked to participate in a research study. Before you agree, however, you must be fully informed about the purpose of the study, the procedures to be followed, and any benefits, risks or discomfort that you may experience as a result of your participation. This form presents information about the study so that you may make a fully informed decision regarding your participation.

Purpose of the study

The purpose of this study is to enrich the learning experience of visitors at CERES environmental park by producing cultural “climate stories” of Indonesians living in Melbourne through a series of ethnographic interview-style videos.

Procedure to be followed

The participant will be required to complete approximately a 30-minute interview with the investigators to share their stories about their life in Indonesia. The interview will be recorded, and the footage may be used to create videos that document their experiences in relation to climate change. The participant will be contacted when videos are complete to ask for their approval of accuracy and appropriate depiction of both the culture and participant. Once the participant has reviewed and approved the videos, they will be integrated into the Indonesian cultural village experience at CERES and other platforms including: YouTube, Climate Stories Project, and WPI.

Risk to study participants

Some questions may evoke memories that may bring discomfort to the participant. The participant has the right to decline any question and request to move on to a new topic of discussion.

Benefits to research participants and others

This project will benefit CERES in its expansion of its Indonesian cultural village exhibit and in its ability to teach the community about the impact of climate change on life in Indonesia. It will also benefit those of the communities being interviewed, as it will provide a platform for them to share their stories.

Record keeping and confidentiality

The recordings from this study will only be available to the staff at CERES and to the group conducting this project unless given permission to do otherwise. Records of your participation in this study will be held confidential so far as permitted by law. However, the study investigators, the sponsor or its designee and, under certain circumstances,

the Worcester Polytechnic Institute Institutional Review Board (WPI IRB) have the right to inspect and have access to confidential data that identify you by name.

Compensation and treatment in the event of injury

We do not believe that participation in this project will involve risk of injury or harm, but if something of that nature does occur, we will not be held liable for such injury or harm. You do not give up any of your legal rights by signing this statement.

For more information about this research or about the rights of research participants, or in case of research-related injury, contact:

If more information about this project is required, please contact the investigators with the contact information on the first page of this document. In addition, if further communication is needed, the IRB Chair at WPI (Professor Kent Rissmiller, Tel. 508-831-5019, Email: kjr@wpi.edu) and the Human Protection Administrator (Gabriel Johnson, Tel. 508-831-4989, Email: gjohnson@wpi.edu) can aid in any more information related to this study.

Your participation in this research is voluntary

Your refusal to participate will not result in any penalty to you or any loss of benefits to which you may otherwise be entitled. You may decide to stop participating in the research at any time. The project investigators retain the right to cancel or postpone the experimental procedures at any time they see fit.

Initial each statement you agree with:

- I give permission for my name and other personal information (including hometown, age, and occupation) collected during the study to be used in the videos.
- I give permission for my face to be shown in the videos.
- I give permission for this video to be published on public platforms including: CERES visitors app, CERES YouTube channel, Climate Stories Project, and Worcester Polytechnic Institute.

By signing below, I acknowledge that I have read and understand the explanation provided to me. I have had all of my questions answered to my satisfaction and consent to be a participant in the study described above. I am also entitled to a copy of this agreement.

Participant Signature

21-03-2019
Date

Harry

Participant Name (please print)

Investigator Signature

21-03-2019
Date

WPI

Informed Consent Agreement for Participation in Ethnographic Film Study of Indonesian Culture and Climate

Investigators: Tahvorn George, Molly O'Connor, Jarod Romankiw, Michelle Zhang

Email Contact: gr-cceres-d19@wpi.edu

Sponsor: CERES Community Environment Park

You are being asked to participate in a research study. Before you agree, however, you must be fully informed about the purpose of the study, the procedures to be followed, and any benefits, risks or discomfort that you may experience as a result of your participation. This form presents information about the study so that you may make a fully informed decision regarding your participation.

Purpose of the study

The purpose of this study is to enrich the learning experience of visitors at CERES environmental park by producing cultural “climate stories” of Indonesians living in Melbourne through a series of ethnographic interview-style videos.

Procedure to be followed

The participant will be required to complete approximately a 30-minute interview with the investigators to share their stories about their life in Indonesia. The interview will be recorded, and the footage may be used to create videos that document their experiences in relation to climate change. The participant will be contacted when videos are complete to ask for their approval of accuracy and appropriate depiction of both the culture and participant. Once the participant has reviewed and approved the videos, they will be integrated into the Indonesian cultural village experience at CERES and other platforms including: YouTube, Climate Stories Project, and WPI.

Risk to study participants

Some questions may evoke memories that may bring discomfort to the participant. The participant has the right to decline any question and request to move on to a new topic of discussion.

Benefits to research participants and others

This project will benefit CERES in its expansion of its Indonesian cultural village exhibit and in its ability to teach the community about the impact of climate change on life in Indonesia. It will also benefit those of the communities being interviewed, as it will provide a platform for them to share their stories.

Record keeping and confidentiality

The recordings from this study will only be available to the staff at CERES and to the group conducting this project unless given permission to do otherwise. Records of your participation in this study will be held confidential so far as permitted by law. However, the study investigators, the sponsor or its designee and, under certain circumstances,

the Worcester Polytechnic Institute Institutional Review Board (WPI IRB) have the right to inspect and have access to confidential data that identify you by name.

Compensation and treatment in the event of injury

We do not believe that participation in this project will involve risk of injury or harm, but if something of that nature does occur, we will not be held liable for such injury or harm. You do not give up any of your legal rights by signing this statement.

For more information about this research or about the rights of research participants, or in case of research-related injury, contact:

If more information about this project is required, please contact the investigators with the contact information on the first page of this document. In addition, if further communication is needed, the IRB Chair at WPI (Professor Kent Rissmiller, Tel. 508-831-5019, Email: kjr@wpi.edu) and the Human Protection Administrator (Gabriel Johnson, Tel. 508-831-4989, Email: gjohnson@wpi.edu) can aid in any more information related to this study.

Your participation in this research is voluntary

Your refusal to participate will not result in any penalty to you or any loss of benefits to which you may otherwise be entitled. You may decide to stop participating in the research at any time. The project investigators retain the right to cancel or postpone the experimental procedures at any time they see fit.

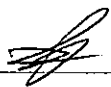

Initial each statement you agree with:

I give permission for my name and other personal information (including hometown, age, and occupation) collected during the study to be used in the videos.

I give permission for my face to be shown in the videos.

I give permission for this video to be published on public platforms including: CERES visitors app, CERES YouTube channel, Climate Stories Project, and Worcester Polytechnic Institute.

By signing below, I acknowledge that I have read and understand the explanation provided to me. I have had all of my questions answered to my satisfaction and consent to be a participant in the study described above. I am also entitled to a copy of this agreement.

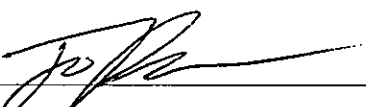

Participant Signature

22/03/19
Date

Celine Sasmata

Participant Name (please print)

Investigator Signature

22/03/19
Date

WPI

Informed Consent Agreement for Participation in Ethnographic Film Study of Indonesian Culture and Climate

Investigators: Tahvorn George, Molly O'Connor, Jarod Romankiw, Michelle Zhang

Email Contact: gr-ceres-d19@wpi.edu

Sponsor: CERES Community Environment Park

You are being asked to participate in a research study. Before you agree, however, you must be fully informed about the purpose of the study, the procedures to be followed, and any benefits, risks or discomfort that you may experience as a result of your participation. This form presents information about the study so that you may make a fully informed decision regarding your participation.

Purpose of the study

The purpose of this study is to enrich the learning experience of visitors at CERES environmental park by producing cultural "climate stories" of Indonesians living in Melbourne through a series of ethnographic interview-style videos.

Procedure to be followed

The participant will be required to complete approximately a 30-minute interview with the investigators to share their stories about their life in Indonesia. The interview will be recorded, and the footage may be used to create videos that document their experiences in relation to climate change. The participant will be contacted when videos are complete to ask for their approval of accuracy and appropriate depiction of both the culture and participant. Once the participant has reviewed and approved the videos, they will be integrated into the Indonesian cultural village experience at CERES and other platforms including: YouTube, Climate Stories Project, and WPI.

Risk to study participants

Some questions may evoke memories that may bring discomfort to the participant. The participant has the right to decline any question and request to move on to a new topic of discussion.

Benefits to research participants and others

This project will benefit CERES in its expansion of its Indonesian cultural village exhibit and in its ability to teach the community about the impact of climate change on life in Indonesia. It will also benefit those of the communities being interviewed, as it will provide a platform for them to share their stories.

Record keeping and confidentiality

The recordings from this study will only be available to the staff at CERES and to the group conducting this project unless given permission to do otherwise. Records of your participation in this study will be held confidential so far as permitted by law. However, the study investigators, the sponsor or its designee and, under certain circumstances,

the Worcester Polytechnic Institute Institutional Review Board (WPI IRB) have the right to inspect and have access to confidential data that identify you by name.

Compensation and treatment in the event of injury

We do not believe that participation in this project will involve risk of injury or harm, but if something of that nature does occur, we will not be held liable for such injury or harm. You do not give up any of your legal rights by signing this statement.

For more information about this research or about the rights of research participants, or in case of research-related injury, contact:

If more information about this project is required, please contact the investigators with the contact information on the first page of this document. In addition, if further communication is needed, the IRB Chair at WPI (Professor Kent Rissmiller, Tel. 508-831-5019, Email: kjr@wpi.edu) and the Human Protection Administrator (Gabriel Johnson, Tel. 508-831-4989, Email: gjohnson@wpi.edu) can aid in any more information related to this study.

Your participation in this research is voluntary

Your refusal to participate will not result in any penalty to you or any loss of benefits to which you may otherwise be entitled. You may decide to stop participating in the research at any time. The project investigators retain the right to cancel or postpone the experimental procedures at any time they see fit.

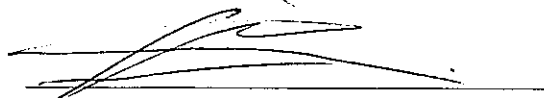

Initial each statement you agree with:

AA I give permission for my name and other personal information (including hometown, age, and occupation) collected during the study to be used in the videos.

AA I give permission for my face to be shown in the videos.

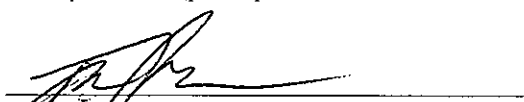

AA I give permission for this video to be published on public platforms including: CERES visitors app, CERES YouTube channel, Climate Stories Project, and Worcester Polytechnic Institute.

By signing below, I acknowledge that I have read and understand the explanation provided to me. I have had all of my questions answered to my satisfaction and consent to be a participant in the study described above. I am also entitled to a copy of this agreement.

Participant Signature

21/03/2019
Date

AILSA AZIZAH
Participant Name (please print)

Investigator Signature

21/03/2019
Date