Actors and Actresses Star in Fifth Annual Tech Show

Prognostications are dangerous; yet no prediction failed when the fifth annual Tech Show, "The House That Jack Built," was given the Thursday and Friday nights before vacation. Superlative praise is none too good; everything was of the best.

Friday night was as usual gala night. Every available seat in the house was taken, and the audience was in the gayest mood. From the first entrée to the final curtain, there was uninterrupted pleasure. Joy reigned supreme.

In the first act the audience laughed itself to tears at Jack's (Jacoby '17) unique plan of assuming ownership of his fraternity house, and went into hysterics when Levi (Bird '17) swindled Tim (Duffy '17) by blandly "swappin' the co't for the soot." Jack's "I—wonder;—who—knows?" soliloquy closed the act amid thunderous applause.

Between the scenes streamers were thrown from every corner of the hall; toy balloons were sent up; and the merry laughter of all rang through the theatre.

The introduction of "girls" into the second act created a sensation. Polly (Heath '18) was as dainty and sweet a little leading lady as anyone could wish. Ruth Warren, a blonde, (Wyman '16) was unusually clever in the weeping song "I'm sick of my job;" while Helen Cary a brunette, (Little '16) proved a most vivacious coquette. And what a "bla-bla-bla-brunette" quarrel Fred (Jewell '15) and Jim (Wellington '17) did carry on in their behalf! Helen Havahart (Sessions '17) once more played a "fleur-de-mur" to perfection; and May June (Smith '15) alias Miss Brown alias Polly's maid alias a detective was far too clever for the beetle-browed villain, Oswald (Child '18). And with all the mistakes and quarrels and rebelling, Jack and Bert (Sargent '18) push their scheme through until the atmosphere is fairly saturated with wealth.

At the close of the second scene the ushers walked to the stage in an almost unending stream, carrying flowers to the actors and "actresses." "Win" Davis gave a short curtain speech; and everyone

HARVARD MANAGER HERE

Paul Withington to Speak at Tech Banquet

President Hollis announced yesterday that Paul Withington, graduate manager of athletics at Harvard, will speak at the Tech Banquet on April 14. His subject is to be "Outdoor Sports," and he will bring stereopticon slides to illustrate his talk, showing views of the Harvard-Yale game in the Yale bowl last fall, the Henley race, and other outdoor sports.

"Build Now" Movement Effects Gymnasium

Central Building Company Awarded Contract

At last the Tech gymnasium has passed from a possibility to a certainty. Last Friday evening the executive committee awarded the contract for the construction work to the Central Building Co., of Front Street, this city. In line with the committee's intentions, those firms were given preference who numbered W. P. I. graduates amongst their more important officers. The president of the successful bidder is Bradford A. Gibson of the class of '91. Three other construction companies figured on the plans: Norcross Co., J. W. Bishop Co., and the Edward F. Miner Co.

Up to this time the exact figures of the contract have not been divulged but it is hinted that they are well over the $100,000 mark. Constructed of brick and stone, the gym will be of three stories with a basement, with a total length of 126 feet and a width of 88 feet.

Y. M. C. A. ELECTIONS

Lieutenant Hearne Addresses Local Association

The annual business meeting and election of officers of the Tech Y. M. C. A. was held on the Wednesday previous to vacation. President Russell made a complete report of the work for the year, reading the important parts of the reports of each cabinet member. The financial report was read by the treasurer, Douglas Miner. The election then took place, resulting as follows: President, Thomas W. Farnsworth '16, of Boston; vice-president, Kirke B. Lawton '17, of Athol; secretary, Norman C. Firth '18, of Worcester; treasurer, A. A. Smith '17, of Athol. President Farnsworth has been a faithful worker for the Y. M. C. A. since coming here three years ago, and his quiet ways and magnetic personality have won the respect and good will of the student body. He will assume his duties with the heartiest wishes of success from all.

After the election, the meeting was addressed by Lieut. E. W. Hearne, the state secretary of the Y. M. C. A. Lieutenant Hearne was prominent in the Boxer uprising in China, and his subject was "The Two Generals." He installed the new officers in their positions with a simple ceremony, and the meeting adjourned.

Baseball Outlook

First Game in Two Weeks, Hard Battles For Varsity Positions

With the Rhode Island State game but ten days off, baseball practise is progressing "full speed ahead." Every night Coach Jones is on the field in a suit, directing his twenty-odd candidates in the correct ways to bat, field and run bases.

Who is who, cannot yet be determined. Behind the bat, Stone, as was expected, is showing up prominently, his sureness and almost perfect throw making him a strong factor. Atkinson, the same steady catcher that he was two years ago, is also proving a powerful asset. Hedburg, too, is displaying all the qualities of an excellent mask-man; and Mossberg, the phenomenon of the football season, is stepping along at the same pace. All four of these men will probably be used more or less; which will bear the brunt of the season is a question.

In the box, Daniels, last year's find, looks to be a first string man. He is slow and sure, and has speed as well as curves. Luce, a Freshman of fine form and unlimited fame, is also attracting attention. Tomblen, a graduate student and old Bates man, has shown great form and good control. Fenn, Green, and Smith, are in the same category, so that it is at present impossible to say which of the six is the best.

At first there are Barnes, Dunbar and Moore. Barnes has shown up well; "Dunnie" has last year's experience; and Moore has a "rep." There is also "Jack" Wheeler, last year's first alternate who, although now playing the field, is ready at any time to assume charge of the initial sack.

At second Cassavant, Bent and Shuhan look to be the men. "Cassie" although heavy and short, moves like a streak of lightning and "eats 'em alive." Bent, another Freshman, is proving himself a clever fielder; while veteran Sheehan is pulling "ninety milers" off the ground as if they were rolled by a baby.

At short Capt. Gleason appears to be the sole occupant. His form is better even than last year and he is proving as good as a captain as a ball player.

For the dizzy corner Green, Tomblen and Hancock are stopping the fast ones to the best advantage, while in the field there is verily a multitude—Camp, Wellington, Moulton, and Wheeler are the veterans, but the others are pushing them at an awful pace.

SIGMA XI SPEAKER

Prof. R. W. Wood, of Johns Hopkins University, has been secured as the annual commencement speaker before Sigma Xi, at 8 P. M., June 7. Professor Wood is said to be an exceptionally fine speaker.

Junior Prom

The Junior Prom, coming as it did at the end of Tech Show week, was certainly the crowning event in that whole week of social happenings. From start to finish the dance was a success in every particular. No detail was left undone which would have added to the enjoyment of the evening. The Bancroft ballroom was handsomely decorated with characteristic Tech banners and colors. The orchestra was immense—full of "pep" from the time they started until all was over. The crowd—and it was a crowd—was enthusiastic, enjoying themselves in every dance—simply couldn't help it with that music. The arrangements for luncheon were well made and every one was efficiently served. All in all it was the best affair of its kind ever staged here at Tech. There will be no question raised as to whether the Junior Prom is to be an annual event—it is a certainty.

The Junior Class as a whole and the committee of Juniors who had charge of the Prom, in particular, are to be congratulated upon the admirable good time they gave everybody who attended.

THE DAVIS PRESS

Editorials

Owing to the fact that there is such a large amount of important news on hand which could not be held over for another week it has been deemed advisable by the staff to publish an issue this week instead of waiting until next Tuesday for issue No. 26 to appear. As stated previously, next week's issue, however, will be in charge of Societies Editor, Everett L. Bragdon, one of the aspirants for the Editor-in-Chief berth for next year.

Owing to an unfortunate illness of the Editor-in-Chief, this issue has been unavoidably delayed. In the emergency, this issue has been in charge of Associate Editor C. S. Darling.

Just seven weeks to the finals. Time to plug is now!

Don't forget to come out and watch baseball practise. The first game is but ten days off, and the second cut early this week left the squad with a bunch of men that looks like a baseball team.

THE GYM ASSURED

Although the immediate completion of the gymnasium has oftentimes seemed only a dream, it is now a reality. Confronted by innumerable problems, Professor Butterfield, together with his associates on the Alumni Committee, have labored continually, with little glamour attending their work, until now they need only look ahead a short distance to see the structure complete in all its details. From present indications the two lower classes will most enjoy the benefits made possible by the loyal alumni, but each and every class will take pleasure in the fact that they helped in some way or other to bring about the realization of a gymnasium building for Tech.

A STATE UNIVERSITY OR NOT?

The more or less recent newspaper discussions regarding a State university should be of interest to Tech men as college men of Massachusetts. The State board of education, in a special report to the Legislature, was directly opposed to the establishment of a State university, but in spite of this the legislative committee voted unanimously in favor of taking the initial steps toward establishing such an institution. No definite plan was proposed, but a sub-committee was appointed to draft resolutions embodying these ideas.

The effects, good or evil, upon the present system of higher education in this State, may well be discussed by the students of the State. There are about sixteen institutions of the college or university rank in the State already, several of which receive State aid to a considerable degree. Whether it is better for the State to continue its aid to these colleges and extend its work in this direction, or to establish a State institution is a question that has aroused much discussion throughout the commonwealth. The plan is to have a university covering all branches, similar to the western institutions, but it must be remembered that conditions in the West were different when those universities were founded than they are in this State today. There were no institutions of higher learning in the Western States, while Massachusetts is a veritable seat of learning.

VERMONT DEFEATS TECH

Rifle Team Loses Final Match

The last rifle match of the season, shot just before vacation, was a defeat for the local team at the hands of Vermont by a score of 964 to 930. Bragdon, Darling, and Banan were tied for fourth and fifth places, but the two former qualified by the rules governing such ties. The scores follow:—

	Standing	Prone	Total
G. N. Davidson	90	98	188
M. M. Smith	94	92	186
E. B. Janvrin	87	99	186
E. L. Bragdon	90	95	185
C. S. Darling	88	97	185

Totals 449 481 930

Those not qualifying:—H. F. Banan, 185; W. B. Anthony, 183; R. C. Lewis, 179; C. G. Rice, 175; J. P. Dean, 173. Maine scored 953 in the final match, giving her fourth place in Class B instead of Tech, who had been holding that position up to the last.

TRACK

Track practice is now in full sway, the prospective track athletes meeting Coach O'Connor on the old track on Boynton Street every afternoon. The biggest squad ever out reported for action the first day—forty men—and every one looked to make a strong bid for a position. So it looks as if places on the team would be at a premium this spring. "Charlie" was very much elated but his only comment was, "Let's see how many stiek." That's what counts. It's the "stickers" that land the jobs. So stay with them and show "Charlie" that at least your intentions are good.

It was hoped that by yesterday the new field would be in operation but this young blizzard will delay things somewhat. That means that in the short time remaining before the M. A. C. meet and the Penn Carnival some stiff work must be done. But we have this much consolation, that the "Farmers" will be delayed just as much in getting out doors as we will be so our chances are just as good as ever.

BANQUET FOR M. E. SOCIETY

Will Hear Interesting Lecture on "The Submarine"

Thursday at seven o'clock the members of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, together with Institute graduates in the vicinity of Worcester, will share in a dinner at the Bancroft Hotel. Following the dinner the assemblage will be addressed on the subject of "The Submarine," by Mr. R. H. M. Robinson, the general manager of the Lake Torpedo Boat Company. Mr. Robinson is a former naval officer and a well known authority on the subject of his lecture. The stereopticon will be used to illustrate his talk. Students of the Institute will be admitted without charge to the gallery, for the purpose of hearing the lecture. E. Howard Reed, a graduate of the Institute, has charge of the arrangements for the banquet and lecture.

The examination halls at Oxford have been converted into a hospital for wounded soldiers. The total enrollment shows a decrease of two-thirds of the usual number. Most of these men are enrolled as freshmen.

Princeton University receives $250,000, for the erection of a new dining hall on the campus, from Mrs. Russell Sage, provided a like amount is raised before July 1st. Already over $75,000 has been collected toward the needed fund.

Michigan Athletic Association made $30,000 in football last year but baseball lost $2,700 and track $4,000. Student fees alone came to $25,430.

A new Agricultural College Building is nearing completion at Ohio University at Athens. This building will be occupied by the Home Economics, Botany, Civic Biology, and Agricultural Departments.

Yale has a standing army of nearly 25,000 living Yale men. Of the graduates, 17,570 are at present living in the United States. In New York and Brooklyn 2,965 graduates are registered, while at New Haven, 1,437.

At McGill, four companies have been formed to fight for England in the European War. A cup has been offered for the best drilled company in the battalion.

As a result of the investigation of the Bureau of Education it is shown that of the graduates of the thirty-seven largest colleges, 25 per cent teach, 20 per cent enter business, 15 per cent become lawyers, 7 per cent become physicians, and 7 per cent enter the ministry.

The paintings owned by Washington and Lee University are worth $200,000. One of the most valuable is a portrait of Washington painted in 1772 by Pearle.

The freshman physical examination at Cornell resulted as follows: 852 men have functional spinal curvature, 441 wear glasses, 375 have enlarged tonsils, 125 suffer from goitre, and 626 have weak arches of the feet. The class is made up of 1500 men. Military drill is recommended as one of the best things to correct many of these weaknesses.

Cambridge and Oxford will not row their historic boat race, for the first time since the Crimean War, all the leading oarsmen of both universities having gone to the front.

The University of Michigan gives eight units credit in journalism for work on the university publication.

Five Pennsylvania colleges and universities were represented at the national convention of the Intercollegiate Prohibition association held in Topeka, Kansas. These included Bucknell, Dickinson, University of Pennsylvania, Penn State, and Westminster.

NEWS MEN MUST SIGN CONSTITUTION

The new constitution for governing the Tech News Association has now been passed and goes into effect immediately. It is therefore very essential that all members of the association sign this new document immediately. If your name does not appear on the list by the end of this month it is very probable that you may have some difficulty in getting an opportunity to vote at the annual election which is coming very soon.

The constitution is in the hands of Secretary R. E. Chandler '16, and all men who are members now and desire to remain Association members should see him and sign their name. The constitution will be at the News building on Tuesday afternoons from 5.00 to 5.45 p. m. for those who wish to sign it. Please be prompt so that it will not be too late when you decide to come around to sign.

Since the new constitution makes requirements for membership in the Association much more stringent, it is necessary that we have every member sign the constitution for new applicants do not become members until they have done this.

In order that elections to the staff may come in February instead of June and October as in the past, the present Editor-in-Chief will resign his position before the end of this month, thus making it possible to have an election then and thus next year bring it up into February without one man losing a whole half year as Editor-in-Chief. The new election will include necessarily an election of an entirely new staff throughout, with the possible exception of the business manager, it being deemed advisable not to make a change in that office until the end of this year.

EXTRA CURRICULUM ACTIVITIES IMPORTANT, WRITES ONE OF OUR LOYAL ALUMNI

Valuable Information to the Under-graduates
Mr. A. R. Cade,
Editor, Tech News,
Worcester, Mass.
Cleveland, March 26th, 1915.

Dear sir:
I notice the editorial entitled "This Week" in the News for March 23rd and am reminded of a story. About twenty-five years ago Frank Butterworth went to Yale College, the son of Ben. B. Butterworth at that time a member of Congress from the Cincinnati district. His father wrote him a letter with a lot of good advice as to the friendships he would form at Yale, his mode of living, etc., telling him that it would be well to remember that "All work and no play made Jack a dull boy," but he also added that it would be well to remember that the opposite of this was also true and "that all play and no work would very soon add another syllable to Jack's name."

Looking back upon my years at Tech it would seem to me that whereas a small minority of the fellows there might need to bear the latter advice in mind, yet the great majority would profit by taking the advice you give them. After all is said, there are more business opportunities waiting the all around man capable of meeting and mixing with other men, than are waiting the mere student, however complete his merely technical knowledge may be. Personally, I believe that the extra-curriculum activities and duties of many of the students are fully as important in shaping their ends as the course of study laid down in the catalog.

Yours very truly,
Francis W. Treadway, '09.

COSMOPOLITAN CLUB HOLD LADIES' NIGHT

Just previous to the closing of the Institute for the Easter Recess the members of the Worcester Tech Chapter of the Association of Cosmopolitan Clubs (an international organization, comprising about thirty chapters in most of the large colleges located all over this country, as well as other chapters in colleges across the "big sea") held their annual Ladies Night at their Club House on Hackfeld Road.

About thirty couples were present to enjoy the gala occasion, including club members and their lady friends.

The evening was very pleasantly spent in playing games, listening to violin solos by A. L. Ball, '17, and accompanied by H. H. Y. Babcock '15, and witnessing some very mystifying sleight of hand tricks performed by magician H. L. Cole '14.

During the evening refreshments were served those present and the party broke up at a late hour with the singing of "Alma Mater."

Several members of the faculty and their wives or lady friends were also present to enjoy the social, which proved to be a great success.

RIFLE SEASON REVIEW

Second Season is Better than First
The closing of Tech's second rifle season shows that the present team is a big improvement over the one that represented the local school last year. The team, however, has not shown the consistent improvement that has been looked for, and consequently finished lower down in Class B than the opening of the season seemed to predict. One score of 899 in mid-season was a big handicap to the locals in the total score.

The team average this year was 927.7, compared with about 912 for last year. Tech thus remains in Class B next year, having won five and lost four matches. The individual averages have also increased this year. Last year the high average was 182.5, held by C. S. Darling, while this year E. L. Bragdon easily leads with 186 for an average. H. F. Banan is second with 184.4, and M. M. Smith third with 183.8. H. F. Banan still holds the individual record of 195, the nearest approach this year being 194, shot by Captain Davidson.

The ten men comprising the team this year are Capt. G. N. Davidson, E. L. Bragdon, H. F. Banan, M. M. Smith, C. S. Darling, W. B. Anthony, J. P. Dean, E. B. Janvrin, C. G. Rice, and R. C. Lewis. The first six are veterans, and have shot the highest averages for the year. Dean, Janvrin, and Rice have all shot fairly well, registering a few high scores, and Lewis, while only a freshman and new to the game, has by his consistent practice landed a place, and in the last two matches showed indications of becoming an excellent shot next year. Others who have shot on the team this year are A. L. Miller, R. P. Lansing, R. D. Lambert, P. C. Mirick, and R. L. Hancock.

Of this year's team, Captain Davidson and Smith will be lost by graduation, and Dean expects to leave Tech for the U. S. Military Academy at West Point, but with the other seven back the prospects are bright for a good team. The first two seasons the team has had no coaching whatsoever, and with the possibility of a good coach next year the local school should make a name for itself. The schedule of matches this year follows:

W. P. I.	937	Univ. of Penn.	957
W. P. I.	915	Univ. of Wisconsin	872
W. P. I.	937	Univ. of Maine	917
W. P. I.	899	Princeton Univ.	902
W. P. I.	930	No. Georgia Agric.	989
W. P. I.	931	Dartmouth	921

TECH SHOW

then arose to sing "Alma Mater." It was a pretty scene. The black and white of the men setting off the gay colors of the girls to perfection was most pleasing to the eyes and nothing could have been more pleasing to the ears than the sound of those seven hundred voices affirming:

"In terms so strong and bold,
The world will know Thy worth to us
Increases many fold."

The denouement of the third act was most agreeable. The villain went to jail, May found Bert's lost heart, Polly learned everything and loved Jack all the more, and Mr. T. Copley White (Frazier '16) blessed them one and all. The scene was interspersed with songs. The quartette gave a fine rendition of "We'll praise thee, Worcester Tech;" Wood '16 and Kennedy '18 portrayed a summer flirtation in "My Gal"; and Levi once more sent the audience into tears of laughter with "O-yoy-yoy-Some Rags."

As the last words were spoken and the curtain went down, there was but one regret—the Fifth Annual Tech Show had passed never more to return.

"BUILD NOW"

"Speed" is to be the key-word for the construction company, it being expected that the building will be completed and ready for use by January 1, 1916. The preliminary work will be commenced at once so that all will be in readiness for the laying of the corner-stone on June 8, during the anniversary celebrations.

The sub-contracts for lighting, ventilation, plumbing and heating are not included in the Central Building Company's contract, but will be let out separately.

As has been mentioned before in the News, the architects for the gymnasium were Hewitt and Brown of Minneapolis, the latter member being a graduate of the class of '98.

The executive committee of the Alumni Association, which opened and awarded the contracts consists of the following members: C. A. Harrington '95, G. W. Mackintire '75, G. I. Rockwood '88, R. Sanford Riley '96, D. R. Collier '90, C. E. Cleveland '86, Treas., C. A. Bartlett '95, and Secretary, Arthur D. Butterfield '93.

PROFESSOR AND MRS. JENNINGS ENTERTAIN

On the evening of the second performance of the Tech Show, Friday, March 26th, the senior chemists and sanitary civils were the invited guests, together with their lady friends, of Professor and Miss Walter L. Jennings at a dinner given by the latter at their home on Boynton St.

The custom of inviting the seniors to their home for a dinner, previous to the attending of the play, is an annual one with Professor and Mrs. Jennings and the hospitality shown by them is much appreciated by all.

The schedule for this team-to-be is the best in the history of Tech. On April 17 the first game is played with R. I. State College at Kingston. This is a new name on the baseball list although well known in football. April 24 the nine journeys up into the land of snow and ice to play Norwich. Last year the score was 4-3 in Tech's favor; this year a little larger margin of safety will be appreciated.

On May 1 comes the big day—the first baseball game on the new field, with Stevens as an opponent. Victory is sure; old Bancroft Tower would collapse were aught but victory to arrive, so let us make it another dedication in harmony with that of football.

May 8 and 12 are also home dates with N. H. State and Springfield Y. M. C. A. College. Last year the former defeated us 7-5, while the latter was not on the schedule, but remember the football defeat. "Revenge is sweet."

May 15 sees a return game with N. H. State, while Boston College plays here the 22, just to put us in good trim for the finals; and after they are over, the team journeys to Hartford to square itself for that 11-2 defeat of last season.

Then on June 8, with the corner stone of the gym just laid, with the field formally dedicated, with Gen. Goethals and President Wilson here to watch, and with all the alumni back to cheer, the team stacks up against Massachusetts Agricultural College. Is there any doubt as to the result?

For Easter week Poli's offers a bill of uncommon excellence with the Girls of the Orient, a warmly tuneful and vivacious girl act as the leading feature of the program. Other acts on the bill are J. Warren Keane and Grace White in "The trickologist and the pianist," Eastman and Moore in "Gypsy love," De Vine and Williams in "The traveling salesman and the female drummer," Smith and Austin and the Telegraph Four. The picture program of six reels will be featured by Richard Travers and Edna Mayo in a three reel comedy drama of mystery and love called "Mr. Buttles."

For Thursday and the balance of the week "6 Peaches and a Pair" is underlined as "choice pickings from the beauty orchard" as the headline attraction. Others on the program are Sameyou, "master of the air," Walton and Rutland, C. H. O'Donnell and company in "Somebody's Baby," Eva Shirley and Deyer and Fay. Six more pictures rounds out the program.

The week of April 12th will see the annual Spring Vaudeville Carnival when ten acts and six pictures will be presented with a change on Thursday as usual. There will be no change in prices but the performance will start at one in the afternoon and seven in the evening.—Adv.

RALPH HERBERT CRIPPEN

Four years ago "Crip" was an enigma. His quiet, immovable manner, his inexpressive smile and his devil-may-care independence were utterly insolvable. Since then we have learned to know him. We have learned that that impassive calm denotes a tranquillity of mind which

"Meets with Triumph and Disaster
 And treats these two imposters just the same."

We have learned that that smile hides the gayest of spirits, always ready for a good time and always ready to make the most of a bad one. And we have learned that his apparent disregard of everything is a determination to do what he thinks right, come what may.

"Crip" has not been a seeker after honors. He has gone his way asking naught of any man, but has attained much through the sheer force of his character. The faculty early realized his ability, and in his Freshman year placed him upon "The Journal" staff, of which paper he is now business manager. In his Sophomore year he was chosen to fill a vacancy in the management of the Book and Supply Department. Last spring he was elected the first president of the

W. P. I. Branch of the A. S. M. E., and he is one of the eleven Skulls.

In his studies, as in school activities, "Crip" has not sought fame but has nevertheless gained it. He has been on every Mechanic Honor roll during his school course. He was a first selection for Tau Beta Pi and he is now president of the Worcester chapter of that fraternity.

Socially, "Crip" has deviated from his usual policy; he has sought pleasure. Dance, banquet, theatre, football game or rarebit party, it matters not; he is at them all. And well does he know Worcester's fairer sex, but none have ever held him more than momentarily. Wiser than most of us, when there is "too much competition," he passes them up; for—there is another along in a moment.

With "Crip's" graduation Tech loses one of her strongest men—not one who has figured conspicuously in the limelight but one who has done his work quietly and well. We can wish him no greater success than that his life record shall equal that he has made at Tech.
